Suggestions for the Removal of DENVER, Jan. 7.—A special to the Republican from Santa Fe, N. M., says that Amado Chavez, Territorial Super-intendent of Public Instruction, today addressed a letter to Edward F. Cragin addressed a letter to Edward F. Cragin, chairman of the Chicago Executive Committee to aid the Armenians, thanking him for his suggestion of colonizing these people in New Mexico, and offering to supply the necessary land free of cost.

Chavez considers Cragin's idea the happiest solution of the Armenian problem that has yet been advanced. He has looked into the character of the Armenians and regards them as a very desirable class of settlers. In western Valencia county, along the line of the Atlantic and Pacific road, Chavez has extensive landed interests, and he proposes to place at the disposal of the Chicago Armenian Relief Association, free of cost, all the land they may desire to colonize, up to 500,000 acres; or, if the committee deems best to locate the colonists on public lands, Chavez offers his services to enable the people to secure such locations

ROUGH RANGE RIDERS.

BARKEEPER LITTLEFIELD KILLEI

The Latter Rides Into the Salor on Horseback and Orders Drinks for the Crowd at the Expense of the House-The Result

(BY 'FELEGRAPH TO THE TIMES.)

HUGO (Colo.,) Jan. 7.—(Special Dispatch.) Wallace Littlefield, employed patch.) Wallace Littlefield, employed as a bartender, was killed today by a cowboy. Hugo is in the center of a vast range district and is the haunt of the rough riders of the range. Yesterday a man named Alexander, employed by the Pawnee Cattle Company, entered the saloon, mounted on his cowpony, but was ejected by Littlefield, who warned him not to come near the place again. The cowboy returned, armed with a shotgun, and, driving right into the saloon, ordered drinks for right into the saloon, ordered drinks for the crowd at the expense of the house The bartender expostulated and was about to use more effective measures for ousting the disturber, when Alex-ander turned loose and filled him with buckshot. The main charge lodged in his head, resulting in instant death. Alexander tried to escape on his pony, but was halted by bystanders, who turned him over to the authorities. The crime is the outcome of the license allowed the range riders of the district, who have made Hugo their rendezvous for years, engaging in wild sports, such as shooting the lights out, whenever they got their nav and

Talk of Expelling William from the Clubs-Delayed Dispatches from the Transvaal-"Sendoff" for Jameson.

NEW YORK, Jan 7.—A dispatch to the World from London says:
"South Africa so completely occupies the attention of the English that the controversy with the United States is for the day, at least, forgotten. If it comes up again in its serious form of three weeks ago it will be because Lord Salisbury is too stubborn to learn the lesson of the German Emperor's message. That the Kaiser's telegram to the president of the Transvaal means avowed hostility to England is universally accepted. He flouts at Great Britain's suzerainty over the Transvaal. To surrender that claim would be the most shameful concession in England's history for two centuries. The prospect of it is scornfully rejected by the entire English press, Tory and Liberal alike.

"But while that vital question re-Liberal alike.

"But while that vital question remains unsettled war with Germany is constantly menaced. Nor is the secession of the South African colonies made less threatening by the unexpected resignation without full explanation of Cecil Rhodes as premier of Cape Colony. Rhodes only makes way as premier to a tried and loyal lleutenant. While in office he was a responsible official of the Queen and could only traitorously conspire against her government. His silence and inaction while another lleutenant is in mortal peril in the Transvaal remains unexplained. If he has absolutely surrendered it must mean that he has lost his nerve if not his faculties. The conviction that this is not the case is still general in London and that the dispatch does not tell the real truth of the situation.

"In any event the complete isolation of England, on which there seems no possibility of improvement in the impadiate future.

ENGLAND AND ITALY.

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.-A dispatch t NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—A dispatch to the Herald from Berlin says: "Serious rumors are in circulation here regard-ing the situation of the Italians in Erythrea. Their position is said to be almost desperate. It is learned that the tension between England and Italy regarding the refusal of the former power to allow the latter to disembark troops at Zeilay has become very serious."

FEARS OF A RUN. CHICAGO, Jan. 7.—The Post's Washington special says that the fears enington special says that the fears entertained of a run on the gold reserve bid fair to be realized. Information was received at the Treasury Department today that orders for the importation of gold have been cancelled and $3,000,000 will go out by tomorrow's steamers. Private advices from New York also tell of large withdrawals for domestic sequestration. This is what the administration feared more than the withdrawals for exportation.

"Scare dispatches" poured into Washington this afternoon from Wall street news agencies asking for the latest about the treasury situation. It is not improbable that the Secretary of the Treasury may be forced to abandon his popular loan programme, and make another syndicate deal within ten days or two weeks to protect the reserve against annihilation. It is believed to

A SQUADRON FOR THE CAPE.

LONDON, Jan. 8.—A long dispatch from Cape Town to the Times describes the intense feeling there at the fall-ure of the Johannesburgers to succor Dr. Jameson, but the National Union delegates say that a disobedience of Gov. Sir Hercules Robinson's orders would have frustrated his belated mission of mediation, and all the old animosities of the Majuba times would have been revived. The people are angry at cross-purposes, but are unani-mous in their enthusiasm for Dr. Jame-on.

The Times dispatch from Johannesburg says that Col. Rhodes told the rowd the whole truth, declaring that t was the bitterest moment of his life. The committee never imagined that Dr. Jameson was in such desperate straits, having received hopeful messages.

Dr. Jameson was in such desperate straits, having received hopeful messages.

The Times this morning makes the following announcement: "Orders have been sent to Portsmouth, Davenport and Chatham for the immediate commissioning of six ships to form a flying squadron, the object of which is obviously to have a squadron ready for any required emergency. It will be composed of two first-class battleships, two first-class and two second-class cruisers. The possibility of the commissioning of such a squadron at a moment's notice shows that our resources are better than was supposed and is proof that our naval organization has greatly improved of late years. It has also been decided to dispatch a naval force to Delagoa Bay, but it is unknown whether it will be composed of vessels from the Cape or from the East Indies."

The Daily Telegraph announces that the has been decided to interest the state of the possibility of the commission.

The Daily Telegraph announces that it has been decided to intercept the troops to and from India in order to send strong reinforcements of infanty and cavalry to the Cape. This paper also states that troops in addition will be sent from England and that a first-class cruiser has been ordered to Delegoa Ray.

class cruiser has been ordered to Delegoa Bay.

The correspondent of the Standard at Aldershot believes that there is a question of calling out the army reserve and a portion of the militia. The Duke of Connaught and the staff officers, the correspondent says, are busy at headquarters and are in constant communication with the War Office.

A special from Berlin says that Dr. Leyds has received a dispatch stating that the Transvani demands from England an indemnity of £500,000 for Dr. Jameson's invasion.

ON THE VERGE OF A SCARE.

ON THE VERGE OF A SCARE. NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—A dispatch to the Journal from London says the government gag is still on the news from Cape Town. Meantime the most serious condition is nearer home. Engserious condition is nearer home. England and Germany are on the ragged edge of war. The correspondent cabled yesterday that it was impossible to believe the rumor that Emperor William had told Leyds, agent of the Transwaal, that he meant to send a German minister to Johannesburg. Leyds told this to a reporter yesterday, and now he has said to another news man at Berlin that the Emperor told him he would recognize the complete independence of the Transwaal.

The editors-in-chief of all the leading London papers were sent for by Secreence of the Transvaal.

The editors-in-chief of all the leading London papers were sent for by Secretary Chamberlain and closeted with him for some time, after which he went to the Isle of Wight to see the Queen. By her command he has been sending dispatches by wire and the papers twice a day, so the Queen was well informed before commanding him to visit her. The whole situation, therefore, bears an ugly expression.

A glance at the Chronicle revealed the fact that war with Germany is believed to be close at hand, and discloses the fact that the government has decided to apprise the English nation that it is facing a crisis. No much words have been read and no such tone used in English nawspapers in many at time.

The editor of the Chronicle, under the his leader thus:

his leader thus: "WARLIKE UTTERANCES."

"WARLIKE UTTERANCES."

"The patience and good sense of the English people stand today in need of reinforcement. We observe a haste, not to say a panic-stricken call for the immediate summoning of the defensive forces of the empire. We assume that they will be ready. We expect they will be adequate. We hope that their employment will not be advertised in the spirit of a vulgar and timorous haste. Peace is one of the greatest requisites to Brit'th interests and above all peace with America is not merely an interest;

it is a first condition of honorable life for both people."

The editorial goes on to say that no dispute between England and America, however embittered, should be allowed to proceed to the extremity of war. The leader is a column long and all of it is directed to America. Then comes the treatment of the German subject in a second editorial. It begins: "The tension is so extreme at the present moment that every man in these islands should feel resting on him a heavy responsibility."

ment that every man in these issands should feel resting on him a heavy responsibility."

The editor quotes the vital clause of the convention with the Transvaal in 1844, enforcing suzerainty over that country, and adds: "No language can be plainer, and we have simply to inform the German Emperor that we abide by that language as completely as we do by our intention to respect the liberty and independence of the South African republic."

Sir Edward Arnold begins his leader in these characteristic words: "It is not enough in these days to have merely a just cause, Justice, Englishmen are painfully discovering, must wear the panoply of strength, and we are, therefore, glad to announce that Her Majesty's government is confident in the correctness of their action in the matter of the Transvaal and resolute to maintain the rights of the Queen. It has directed naval and military measures to be taken which will put anything like a surprise and a defiance in South Africa as altogether out of the question."

LONDON, January 8 .- (By Atlantic Cable. Associated Press Copyright 1896.) Missing dispatches, delayed in transmission from Johannesburg and Cape Town, are gradually reaching this city. Some of the latest messages filed are arriving before the earliest dispatches placed in the hands of the telegraph and cable operators at the different places mentioned. They are dated from January 1 onward, and are being collated. The following synop-sis of the invasion of the Transvaal being contated. The following synopsis of the invasion of the Transvaal by the forces of the British Chartered Company has been compiled:

For a long time past the Uitlanders, or foreign residents of the Transvaal, have been compolaining of the treatment they have been subjected to by the Boers. The Uitlanders, though far outnumbering the Boers, have been compelled to contribute 'practically all the revenue of the republic and yet have no representation or voice in its government. That is their side of the question. On the other hand, the Boers claim that the very fact that the Uitlanders, mainly Englishmen, so far outnumber them is the main argument against giving them rull representation for they would soon outvote the Boers and make the republic nothing more or less than a British colony. On this ground the ill feeling grew writi intimations were made to Dr. Jameson, administrator of the territory of the British Chartered Com-

CUBA'S CAUSE.

Mexicans Greatly Excited by the Re ports from Havana - Property Burned Within Eight Miles of the Capital. (BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7 .- One of the members of the Foreign Affairs Committee of the House, when asked whether the recent successes of the insurgents in Cuba would hasten the recent successes of the insurgents in Cuba would have the recent successes of the leave ognition by the government of their rights as belligerents, said:

The State Department is now preparing, in answer to a resolution of the House, copies of all the correspondence which has taken place since the break-ing out of the rebellion in February. That will, of course, include letters from the Spanish Minister. If those letters should prove to be bragging declara-tions that the Spanish forces would out the rebellion down in a week or two, it will have the effect of demon two, it will have the enect of demon-strating to the House that the rebel-lion is now certainly beyond the con-trol of the home government. The Spanish Minister has admitted that trol of the home government. The Spanish Minister has admitted that his government now has on the island 100,000 croops, and yet the insurgents are now within a few miles of Havana. "The difficulty we have to contend with in moving for the recognition of the patriots as belligerents is that they have no organized army and no fixed seat of government. Their plan has been not to have an army, for if their seat of government. Their plan has been not to have an army, for if their forces were concentrated the Spanish regulars would undoubtedly overwhelm them. Recognition by this

ents were working out their own salvation without assistance from the outside world

"If they continue their successful guerrilla warfare until next April, when yellow feyer takes the field, it will be impossible to subdue them by any force which Spain, can command The civil leaders of the revolution, unfortunately for us, do not aim at independence. They say they do not care to go through thirty or forty years similar to the early experiences of Mexico, and hence they are all for annexation to the United States. I doubt much whether our people are prepared at the present time to assume the government of Cuba, with its mixed population, fresh from Spanish rule, and generally unfitted for American citizenship.

"However that may be, it is evident that affairs on the island are approaching a crisis, and we must be prepared to protect American interests whatever our attitude may be toward the insurgents. For this reason, if for no other, I am inclined to doubt the truth of the story that the administration has been preparing to use our North Atlantic squadron to make a demonstration in Turkish waters. We are liable to need our warships to protect our interests on the island of Cuba.

"If the insurgents take possession of any of the large cities, or should assume control of the civil government of the island, disturbances would inevitably follow, and American property interests in Cuba would be so endangered as to render the presence of ships absolutely necessary."

BURNED A TRAIN.

HAVANA, Jan. 7 .- (By South Am can Cable.) The insurgents are still in the vicinity of Havana, but their movements are not of sufficient important to chronicle in detail. The number of insurgents at Managua and Calabazar, fourteen miles from this city, has been increased, but it is now believed tha Havana itself will not be attacked for some time. The insurgents burned a mixed train from Cardenas near Banagizes and the Spaniards claim that gizes and the Spaniards caum that they violated all women and young girla among the passengers. Railroad com-munication in the province of Matanmunication in the province of Matanzas is being resumed.

The insurgents commanded by Zayas were reported at different times yesterday at Caimito, Guayabal Hoyo, Colorado and Punta Brava, showing that they followed pretty closely the line between the provinces of Pinar del Rio and Havana up to the extreme northeastern portion of Pinar del Rio. This brought them into the region into which large numbers of troops have been sent to guard the western approach to Havana. It does not appear that the insurgents were in any great force, and no engagements are reported.

The influx of refugees from the whole of the territory surrounding Havana continues, and apparently it is not pos-sible to obtain sufficient means of transcontinues, and apparently it is not possible to obtain sufficient means of transportation to accommodate the fieeing families and their household goods. The country seems to be entirely abandoned to the insurgent army, and no movement apparently avails to check them. The eastern portion of the island seems not to have been entirely stripped of any effective force of insurgents. A report from Santa Clara says that the troops encountered the insurgent band led by Pancho Carrillo and in the battle which ensued sustained a loss of fifty.

LATER—Word has just been received that the sounds of cannon and musketry have been heard in the neighborhood of Guannajay, an important town of 4000 inhabitants in Pinar del Rio, forty-five miles south of Havana. It is supposed that an engagement is taking place there between the forces of Gen. Suarez Valdez and the insurgents but the numbers engaged or the course which the fortune of the fight is taking is not known. PLEADING THEIR CAUSE. PLEADING THEIR CAUSE.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—It is learned that the chief purpose of the leaders of the Cuban revolutionary party in coming to Washington today was to push vigorously the movement to secure recognition of the revolutionists by this government. They made Secretary Olney a brief but forcible presentation of the claims of the insurrentation of the claims of the insurrentation. tation of the claims of the insurgents to recognition. Recently the House adopted a resolution calling upon the State Department for information in its possession concerning the revolution President Palma and associates at once

President Palma and associates at once began compilation of evidence in justification of their cause. It is probable the documents given to Secretary Olney or their substance will soon be transmitted to the House.

There is a strong sentiment in the House, which has been advanced by the recent successes of the Cubans, that this government should do all in its power, consistent with international usages, to assist the patriots. President Palma predicts that the insurgents will capture Havana within three months and the Cuban republic will be established in six months, if it has the recognition of the United States.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—At the State Department it is said that no informa-tion has been received confirming the reported condition of affairs at Havana, As the Navy Department has no ships in Cuban waters, no information comes from that source. The intelligence from Cuba is of such an alarming character that some surprise is expressed by officials that no word comes to the government as to the situation.

Minister de Lome of Spain has had his patience sorely tried. The reports that Gen. Campos has resigned and that Hayana has fallen are indignantly resented by him. He does not care to make denials, for he says the reports are such preposterous insurgent falsifications that he will not countenance them.

ENTHUSIASM AT MEXICO. 'CITY OF MEXICO, Jan. 7.—The report received last night that Havana had been taken by the insurgents created the utmost excitement. Cubans, Americans and Mexicans fraternized in the streets and places of public resort, while Spaniards congregated in Span-Significant Caucus Action of the Republicans.

Senator Jones Introduces a Free silver Mensure-Mr. Lodge Scores the Pulitzer Telegrams—Vest's Characteristic Speech.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—The Republican Senators went into caucus at 10:30 o'clock today, but adjourned at 12 o'clock to meet again after the conclusion of the day's session of the Senate. The entire time of the caucus was consumed in discussing proposed amendments to the tariff bill, but no formal expression was secured upon any of them, this being left until the afternoon session. The prevailing sentiment appeared to be against all amendments and the tendency was favorable to reporting the bill as it came from the House. Several Senators expressed doubts as to the wisdom of the bill in any shape and there was an evident disposition to regard the bill as purely an emergency measure.

Senator Quay moved the adoption of the House bill, but the motion was lost sight of in the general discussion.

Mr. Baker, the new Senator from Kansas, made a vigorous speech in opposition to the House bill, if it came before the Senate unaltered. He said that if any tariff legislation was to be enacted, he thought it ought to be done on Republican and protection lines. He also favored a course of non-action in view of the declaration of the administration that the present tariff would (BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.)

He thought, however, that if any legislation should be attempted at this time, changes should be inade in a few schedules only, such as those covering wool and sugar, which should be reformed upon purely protection lines.

Other speeches were made by Senators Allison, Aldrich, Perkins, Hale. Chandler, Hawley and Burrows, Senator Burrows contended for an advance in the rates on chemicals, oils, metals, and agricultural products, while Senator Perkins advocated in strong language the placing of sugar on the footing of equality with other products. Senators Allison and Aldrich explained briefly the attitude of the Republican members of the Finance Committee, saying they were of the opinion that if any changes were to be made they should be in the way of increasing the House rates on agricultural products, spirits and pottery and adding sugar to the list to be increased 15 per cent.

THE DAY IN CONGRESS. THE DAY IN CONGRESS.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—Another brief session of the House was held to-day, at which the only important business transacted was the admission of the new member from the new State of Utah, Mr. Allen, and the adoption of a resulting calling on the Attorney. of Utah, Mr. Allen, and the adoption of a resolution calling on the Attorney-General for information concerning the enforcement of anti-trust laws and for recommendations of new legislation on the subject and on the Scretary of the Treasury for statistics concerning the seal fisheries of Bering sea. Tomorrow, it is expected, the House will take up the discussion of the new code of rules, as the committee expects to be able to make a report by that time.

The Senate was treated today to one port by that time.

He arraigned the Supreme Court for the income-tax decision; he laid the responsibility for the lack of revenue at their door, when they exempted the "sordid wealth of the land" empted the "sordid wealth of the land" from taxation; he contrasted the records of the present and past administrations; he threw some light upon heretofore unknown chapters in the history of the McKinley law; denounced the financial dependency of this country and of others upon the money influence; attacked the President and the Secretary of the Treasury for their proposition to retire the greenbacks and place the circulation in the hands of the national banks; quoted Secretary Carlisle against himself and in conclusion declared the conflict between bimetallism and the gold atandard was irrepressible and that the sooner it was decided the better it Sooner it was decided the better is would be for the people and private life.

The other feature of the session grew out of the introduction by Senator Chandler of a bill for a popular loan through the issue of postal savings certificates. In the course of Senator Chandler's remarks, the cable replies of the Prince of Wales, the Rothsschilds and others, to the New York World, were alluded to, and Senator Lodge claimed that the editor of the World had been guilty of violating sec. 5335 of the Revised Statutes in holding communication with officials of another government, the purpose of which was "to interfere with a measure of the United States."

other government, the purpose of which was "to interfere with a measure of the United States."

Senator Gray of Delaware rebuked both Senator Lodge and Senator Chandler for the suggestion that public opinion could not be solicited either here or abroad on any question, and affirmed that a just public opinion in any civilized centers must be the final arbitrator of all disputes.

Numerous petitions bearing on the Armenian outrages, the question of the recognition of the Cuban belligerents, and the Venezuelan boundary dispute, were presented. Among the latter was one from the Society of Friends of Indiana, praying for arbitration.

Among the bills and resolutions introduced in the Senate were the following: By Mr. Davis, a joint resolution to revive the grade of lieutenant-general in the army, in the interest of Gen. Miles: by Mr. Hanskreugh. to revive the grade of lieutenant-general in the army, in the interest of Gen. Miles; by Mr. Hansbrough, a foint resolution directing the Secretary of Agriculture to resume the purchase and distribution of seeds in accordance with the appropriation made for that purpose at the last session of Congress; by Mr. Gallinger, a joint resodiution appropriating $350.000 for rebuilding the old ship Constitution; by Mr. Allen, a bill directing the foreclosure of the government lien on the Pacific roads. The latter bill provides for the operation of the roads by the government, in case the lien is not redeemed by the present owners.

Mr. Vest was more severe in his characterization of the conduct of the justice who changed his opinion after the first decision and before the second was rendered. He would not, he said, attempt to enter into that justice's motives, but that justice, and he (Vest) did not know who he was, had been mainly responsible in fastening the sordid despotism of wealth upon the country by his change of front. Certainly he had the right to change his mind, but it was a matter of regret that he had not seen proper to put his reasons on record for this farreaching and terrible decision. The justice's name was, he continued, unknown except to himsel' and his associates. The Senate had been ridiculed and vituperated because of secrecy of its executive proceedings, but what, he asked, with a display of warmth, would be thought of a Senator who would change his position on a question of vital general interest and when his position was essential to the success or failure of a cause, and who should not have the manhood to stand before the country and reveal himself and his reasons for such a transformation? He could not in such event imagine the storm of opprobrium, the hurding wrath of the press and the charges of corruption that would follow. Mr. Vest said he did not believe that the terrible effect of this decision had yet been apprehended by the people of the country.

"It marks a new era," he said, "and I greatly mistake if the time does not come when neither soft words nor honeyed phrases will prove sufficient apology." Mr. Vest was more severe in his haracterization of the conduct of the WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—The House Ways and Means Committee will begin work tomorrow on a proposed scheme of legislation to prevent undervaluation of legislation to prevent undervaluation of imports by the customs officials. Hearings will be given to interested parties and tomorrow there will appear before the committee Assistant Secretory of the Treasury Hamlin and two members of the New York Board of Appraisers. The plan upon which the committee will base its work has been outlined by Representative Draper of Massachusetts, and it is probable that the committee will lawestigate the present system of values carefully before it finishes.

It is Gen. Draper's helief that the committee will be the present system of values carefully before it finishes.

It is Gen. Draper's belief that for-eign dealers secure a distinct advan-tage over American producers in the home market under the prevailing methods of appraisal and that there is in operation a far-reaching and suc-cessful arrangement to ship goods into the country far lower than the tariff rates.

The principal points of the legislation which he suggests are: That the prices at which imported goods are appraised to be given by American producers of similar goods when asked for; that foreign price-lists and offers for sales, as well as sales, be considered and no appraisements below them be made; that no deductions for commissions, bounties, etc., be allowed; that in cases of appeals from appraisers to the Board of General Appraisers, the appraisers and collectors state in writing the ressons for their valuations and may appear personally before the board, and that American producers also be allowed to testify; the creation of six commissioners, salaried at $5000, to be stationed at the principal ports to make reports upon prices and, with the assistance of United States consuls, keep the government posted.

Representative Draper believes that some of the rules outlined might be followed under the existing law, but as they are not, he recommends administrative amendments which will secure their enforcement.

"When there is a contest over valuations," he said, "the importer appears on one side, with a direct pecuniary advantage in securing low rates, and is represented by attorneys, they also with direct pecuniary advantage in obtaining low rates. On the other side is the appraiser, merely a perfunctory officer of the government. It is the pur-

BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TIMES NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—(Special Dispatch.) One of E. E. Rice's productions is called "1492" and is thoroughly American. Queen Isabella of Spain in this play wears costumes of Fifth-avenue style, and Columbus, wrapped in the Stars and Stripes, lands in Madison Square on an up-to-date voyage of dis covery. There is an entrancing Co-lumbian march in another act, where pretty girls wear very little except the Stars and Stripes of about the dimen-sions used to decorate patriotic Christ mas trees.

Rice sent his show to Canada last week. It took all its flags with it. Everything went well until Monday night, when the week's engagement was begun in the Academy of Music, Montreal. There Rice expected to do a profitable business. His amazement, therefore knew as bounds that attached therefore, knew no bounds that night when he received the following tele-gram:

Early this morning Rice rushed down to the office of Lawyer Hess. He was determined to make an international issue of it. He instructed Hess to draw up an appeal to the State Department and Hess did it. Rice next went out and bought several gross of American flags, together with the finest silk "Old Glory" he could find. These he packed in a trunk and at 6 o'clock in the evening he boarded the train for Montreal. Before starting Rice said he intended to decorate the theater with American flags tonight, and, moreover, he should drive from the railroad station to his hotel in a cab fastened with the American colors. Rice's friends say he will carry out his threat if he has to cancel the entire Canadian tour of his company.

Interstate Commerce Commission and Its Work.

Abuses of the Law Rectified Through the Courts.

Amendments Looking to Increased Powers—Railway Finances and Casualties—New Safeguards Pools and Brokers.

(THROUGH THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.) WASHINGTON, Jan. 1.—The follow

WASHINGTON, Jan. 1.—The following is a synopsis of the ninth annual report of the Interstate Commerce Commission, a brief summary of which report was telegraphed at the time it was transmitted to Congress:

The commission, after giving a brief review of its operations under the act of Congress by which it holds authority, says that the commission is careful to confine its recommendations for amendments within the limits and aims of the original statute. The special weakness of the law is the want of finality and binding force to the decisions of the commission. Under the statute, as judicially interpreted, the carrier can not only have practically a new trial of the same question in the courts, but the courts may be required to pass upon a very different state of facts than those presented to the commission. The decision of the commission should be made to stand as a rule of conduct prescribed by public authority, unless the courts, upon examination of the record, shall find therein some material error, plainly prejudicial to the defeated party, which furnishes sufficient reason for refusing to enforce that decision. This is a change in the law of most immediate and special urgency.

The tendency toward railway federation is reasy each of a lateral transport of the control of the record of the control of that decision. This is a change in the law of most immediate and special urgency.

The tendency toward railway federation is very marked, and indicates a future combination of carriers wielding such extraordinary power as to constitute, in the estimation of, many people, a serious menace to commercial freedom. That power will be deprived of its principal danger if the authority of the State to prevent excesses and inequalities finds ample expression in enforcible methods for fixing the standard of charges. The regulating tribunal should have adequate authority to ascertain excesses in railroad charges and to enforce with respect thereto the observance of relative justice. That legislation to this end is a valid and appropriate exercise of constitutional power possessed by Congress has repeatedly been declared by the highest judicial authority.

The amendment of sec. 16 of the act, the procedure section, contained in a bill which passed the House at the last session, commonly known as the Patterson bill, is recommended, but the commission states that it will not be sufficient to amend the sixteenth section only. Some alterations in other parts of the law are necessary to prevent any inconsistency in the law as a whole.

The authority of the commission to vent any inconsistency in the law as a whole.

The authority of the commission to determine and prescribe the form of rate schedules, now provided in the sixth section, should be more clearly defined in the statute so as to include determining and prescribing the contents and arrangement of such schedules beyond any question. The commission declines to advise the abolition of the imprisonment feature of the penal provisions of the law, but it is not inclined to oppose such legislation should it be adverse, if the amendments suggested are adopted, to testing the experiment of punishment by fine only; but the corporations themselves should be made indictable for criminal violations of the act as well as their officers and agents.

WORK OF THE COMMISSION.

WORK OF THE COMMISSION.
Relief has been granted to carriers from the operation of the long and short-haul clause in several cases, and the grounds for such relief in each case are stated. A controlling consideration in these special cases of relief from the fourth section is that the longer distance rates sought to be allowed shall not be less than the carrier's cost of service in respect of the longer-distance traffic. The public interest was given primary consideration and was apparently served by the issuance of the order of relief in each case.

The basing-point system in the South, under which the carriers name certain places as distributing centers and competing points, fix through rates thereto and therefrom, and make rates to and from all other places in the same gen-and therefrom, and make rates to and from all other places in the same general territory by adding to such through rates the local charges in force between the distributing centers and the other localities, is stated to have been uniformly condemned by the commission. The basing-point practice was also a main subject of two decisions rendered during the year in cases arising at Cordele, Ga. Reparation to injured parties was awarded by the commission in a box shooks case and also in two cases brought by the Independent Refiners' Association of Tituspendent Refiners' Association of Titus-ville and Oil City. In the latter case the reparation awards amounted to nearly $85,000.

"The separate and independent line theory," which denies comparison of aggregate or total charges in cases under the act, is agaih discussed and declared untenable. The word "line" as used in the statute means a physical line not a more humans a preservement.

used in the statute means a physical line, not a mere business arrangement; and carriers are prohibited from charging through rates on traffic over a line formed by connection of two or more roads which are less as a whole than the rates in force on like traffic carried under similar conditions in the same direction over either of the constituent roads in such line.

The investigation of informal complaints, of which a large number are received yearly, occupies a large portion of the time of the commission and constitutes an important branch of its work. These investigations result in many cases in summary relief to complaining parties. The routine work of the commission has been fully as great as in former years, and of the same general character.

STATISTICS OF RAILWAYS

STATISTICS OF RAILWAYS. STATISTICS OF RAILWAYS.

The report includes statistics of railways in the United States for the year ending June 30, 1894. On that date there were 178,708.55 miles of line, an increase during the year of 2247.48 miles. There were 1924 separate corporations, an increase of thirty-four over the previous year. The capitalization of roads filing reports was $10,796,473,813, or $62,951 per mile. The number of passengers carried was $40,685,199, and the number of tons of freight moved was 638,186,553; both these items show a decrease as compared with the previous year. Fixed charges were $425,008, 319; dividends, $95,515,225, and other payments $6,092,038; leaving a deficit from the operations of the year of $45,585,1294 as compared with a surplus of $8,117,745

TRAFFIC AGREMENTS.

Under this heading the subject of the pooling of freights and division of earnings is considered, and various traffic agreements are mentioned and discussed. What has been said by the commission on the subject of pooling in previous annual reports is referred to in the present report. While the commission is impressed with the evils attending the present system of competition and concedes that the practical results of that system upon the railroads and the public are unsatisfactory in many respects, it nevertheless believes that the re-establishment of pooling without adequate restrictions and further remedial legislation, would be unwise, since otherwise it would be in the power of the combination to charge excessive rates for the transportation of staple commodities and necessaries, and thus to deprive the people of the benefits arising from the competition which now exists. It is necessary in their opinion that rates established by the combination should be subject to effective control by the commission. Under the restriction suggested, pooling would be permitted on condition that the comporations so privileged submit themselves to the only legal authority which can prevent an abuse of the privilege.

Mrs. Davidson Testifies in Her Own Defense.

Some Incriminating Letters by Mattie Overman.

Gov. Budd and the School-book People—The Grangers' Bank At-tached—That Indian Scare. Railroad Commission.

Mrs. Davidson was first placed on the stand in her own defense. She testified that she was born in Bangor, Me. When she was eight years old she moved to Bucksport, Me. She was married there to Franklin Pierce, who was, during the civil war, a major. When he went to the front she too went and volunteered her services, working on the field and the front she too went and volunteered her services, working on the field and in the hospitals. She came to California on January 9, two years ago, to show corsets at the Midwinter Fair and had lived here ever since.

She became acquainted with Mattie Overman at Rev. Mr. Allen's mission. About two months afterward she met her at Dr. Brown's. She never was a member of Dr. Brown's church, but at the solicitation of Dr. Brown and the superintendent of the Sunday-school she took a Bible class, and he had praised her work in that capacity, both before and after the date on which he paid her the $500. He had also eulogized her to other members of the Sunday-school and of the church in her presence. She narrated her intimacy with Mattie Overman, whom she accused jointly with Dr. Brown, and told how she had becured the girl's confidence.

Mrs. Davidson said that Dr. Brown gave her $500 and said ne wanted her to protect him in his illicit love for Mattie Overman. On November 21 Dr. Brown called on her and she told him that Mattle Overman had confessed that she and Dr. Brown had had illicit intercourse, ending November 24, 184, and that it had resulted in child murder. Dr. Brown's study and wrote a receipt for $500, which he paid her the following day. That night she gave the money to Mrs. Baddin.

Later that night she saw Dr. Brown and walked with him. He said he felt like a convicted man. She gald she would pray for him, and he said that if that were the case he would accupy his pulpit next day. He wanted to see Mrs. Baddin.

MISS OVERMAN'S LCAT-A-d

MISS OVERMAN'S LETTERS. SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 7.-A deploring revelation comes in certain letters written by Miss Mattle Overman from written by Miss Mattle Overman from Tacoma to her friend, Mrs. Tunnell, in this city. In them Miss Overman declares that she has the Rev. Dr. Brown in her power and that he dare not defy her. She sees safety from him only in silence and obedience to her. She says her heart has hardened, and, although she is shamed and insulted, the reverend gentleman owes her a living which at that time it was her purpose to demand.

er purpose to demand. The first of the remarkable letters The first of the remarkable letters written by Miss Overman to Mrs. Tunnell is dated at Tacoma in June of last year. The letter reflects an unusually despondent spirit and outlines a plan which Miss Overman had in view on her return to this city. In the letter are several references to the subject uppermost in her thoughts, her trouble with the pastor of the First Congregational Church. The letter is in part as follows:

"TACOMA, June, 1895.

"My dear, dear friend: Your letter arrived this morning, bringing love and bone and spiritual admention. hope and spiritual admonition, for which I am appreciative and trust the words are not wasted nor your progress vain. I believe I am in God's hands, but at present I am in darkness and tossed as a straw in the wind. Now about going to some other city to pursue my studies, I do not agree to that and think it would be best for me to live right there. Do not fear. The moth will not futter about the flame in this case. I am prepared to prove my strength, and feel confident to carry out any plans that may be developed.

The moth will not futer about the flame in this case. I am prepared to carry out angit and feel confidence to make him. Understand me, my dear friend, I consider this my opportunity for a higher education and calmly consider what can be done if I have the will to and say and i hope silence and obedience to my wishes are his only. A consider this my ownsahood in all the spirit, proving my womanhood in all to and say and i hope silence and obedience to my wishes are his only. A consider the most of the make him pay a penalty which he will remmember. The young woman seems to feel her own bitterness of her past relations with the Rev. Dr. Brown. She said if on the ground that unjust treatment has become to the most of her esituation. The letter is as follows:

"I am disappointed, of course, that you could not see E., but I believe he gave did not see E., but I believe he avoids you on purpose, and I will explicit the most of her esituation. The letter is as follows:

"I am disappointed, of course, that you call not see E., but I believe he gave the regretted everything, the wind have the words's and that he told her he had a who knew her knew her to be true. "Tou have spoken to me about my spiritual change which you observed. Now I tell you truthfully that the offense came through him. When I went to their house I was enjoying the sweet presence of the Holy Spirit, and, as my memory files back to the gradual yielding of myself to his magnetism, I know that I lost thereby that communion which had so filled my soul. May God forgive him. He has repented for the love in his heart for me; has been forgiven in his home, and fancies he is now pleasing God and living right before Him, while I, his victim, can take the blow and keep silent. He only knows one-half of me. As for that I hardly know myself. I know that you will be grieved at this letter and pray that I may be used as an instrument to right a wrong. Oh, think of such men standing before people, pointing out the right path, pleading for virtue, equity, righteousness, posing as models, teaching morals! It makes me sick, and I loathe it with all my heart. He shall help me constantly in the future toward an education. That will be the price of silence and I care for no consequences for myself, he has ruined my silie; the man has made a toy of me."

Her third letter was written on June 21, 1836. The letter is, in part, as follows:

"I am glad you see as I do that B. owes me something; that what I have given him can never be repaid. I am shocked that he at times does not seem right. Perhaps that report has been circulated by his enemies in the church, Mrs. French, for instance. Did Mrs. Davidson suggest such a thought in your conversation with her? B. is never at his study Monday and does not always attend the club; that is his never at his study Monday and does not always attend the club; that is his never at his study Monday and does not always attend the club; that is his never at his study monday and does not always attend the club; that is his never again allow any demonstration of any kind. I was wrong to ever allow it and of course I shall not change.

fore hearing from you that, although I live near him or with him, I shall never again allow any demonstration of any kind. I was wrong to ever allow it and of course I shall not change, for I cannot, toward him.

"I know that God rules and I fear that lately I have been in a very rebellious mood, not against Him, but against people who are His voice. If you see B. and he asks you what I want money for tell him everything and advise him to send it."

The fourth letter, which Miss Overman wrote to her friend is one of special significance, as it refers particularly to Miss Overman's determination never again to remain away from San Francisco on Dr. Brown's account. In this letter she declares that the gentleman will do what she says, and whatever she wishes. She thinks him a dreadful man, but loves him as much as she ever did. In it she makes reference to some important news which she received from Mrs. Davidson.

In her seventh letter, Miss Overman writes her friend that Miss Stoval had inquired from Dr. Brown regarding Miss Overman's character and that the reverend gentleman had very highly recommended her. With a touch of sarcasm Miss Overman remarks that this is very kind of him. In this letter the young woman's bitterness of spirit returns. She has love for no one, finds the church an ugly skeleton, repeats gossip and decides to work out her own welfare as best she may.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 7.—The feature of today's racing at Bay District was the mile handicap for three-year-olds and upward and of the six horses entered every one appeared to have a chance of winning. Charlie Boot's good horse Installator was speedily made favorite at 2 to 1, and from the drop of the flag it was nothing but Installator, who won pulling up in the fast time of 1:40%, and had he been urged in the least he would have probably duplicated Saturday's performance of his stable mate Vinctor. Semper Lex was very poorly ridden by Bergen, for, if ridden properly, he would surely have challenged the leader. Cabrillo, at 15 to 1, won the mile and fifty yards race, establishing a new coast record for the distance, 1:43%. Riley Grannan cleared TRUCKEE, Jan. 7.—The streets of this little mountain town were fairly allive with people today. When it was announced a day or two ago that Reno contemplated sending a large excursion party to view the wonders that nature had wrought here, the people grew more enthusiastic than ever. Extra decorations were added to those which already adorned the majority of the business houses and this morning the town and surroundings presented a gala appearance indeed.

It was 10:30 o'clock when No. 2, the west-bound overland, thundered into Truckee and deposited its two carloads of warmly-dressed and merry residents of the sage-brush State. They were eagerly impatient to view the wonderful ice palace and the now famous toboggan silde, and almost before the train stopped they were rushing from the cars, each one seemingly desirous of obtaining the first glance at the beautiful glistening structure. The sun shone out grand and beautiful for several minutes, thus presenting the scene in all its gorgeous splerdor.

A full brass band greeted the train on its arrival. The party broke up into crowds of ten or a dozen each and were shown through the ice palace and taken to the several places of amusements. The chief drawing card seemed to be the toboggan silde where the men in charge had more than they could well attend to in handling the crowd.

The Attorney-General read the affida-vit of Chairman Larue of the commis-sion, containing figures showing the Attorney Herrin for the railroad objected to the admission of this affida-vit, claiming that its contents were mmaterial.

The Attorney-General replied that the figures were taken from the report of the Congressional Committee on Pacific Roads.

Judge McKenna sustained the object Judge silventhal statistic to the total tion to the affidavit. This was the first blow to the cause of the commissioners. Larue's affidavit was strong in refutation of the figures given by the Southern Pacific.

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 7.-The State SACRAMENTO, Jan. 7.—The State Board of Education was in session again today. Gov. Budd, president of the board, made an unsuccessful attempt to put through a resolution that the editorial staff on school books be not retained after the new grammar is completed and there is no further work to do. On account of the exhaustion of funds, it was announced, the board cannot go on with the advanced history and arithmetic, and a resolution to that effect was adopted.

A Butte dispatch says that an important ruling by Judge McHatton virtually knocks out a score or more of suits for damages for death and injury at the great explosion a year ago, when fifty-eight persons were killed and hundreds injured. The case on trial was that of Joseph Milano vs. the Kenyon-Connell Commercial Company and M. J. Connell and W. R. Kenyon, trustees, for personal injuries. At the conclusion of the evidence for the plaintiff a motion made for the defense for non-suit as to the trustees, Judge McHatton sustained it. This leaves the only redress against the company, which is now in the hands of the Sheriff under the attachment by the creditors, and which is virtually bankrupt. The aggregate of amounts sued for was $250,000.

A very pleasant meeting of the Daughters of the American Revolution was held yesterday afternoon at the residence of the Misses Thorpe on South Grand avenue. Miss Thorpe read an interesting sketch of Patrick Henry, Mrs. Mary H. Banoing read a paper on "The Difficulties in Obtaining the English. lish Army," and Mrs. Houghton took as her theme, "Our Friends at the Time of the Revolution." A letter from of the Revolution." A letter from Shirley Ward, containing cordial greetings to the chapter, was read, and an informal discussion of the papers closed the pleasant afternoon. Those present were: Mmes. Houghton, Banning, H. T. Lee, T. E. Gibbon, Cunningham, Kinney, B. F. Thorpe, Rogers, Shirley Ward, Cady; the Misses Etchemend, Houghton and the Misses Thorpe.

A BIRTHDAY PARTY. A charming birthday party was given yesterday afternoon by Mrs. F. P. Lef-roy, at her residence on South Grand roy, at her residence on South Grand avenue, for her little son, Teddie. She was assisted in entertaining the wee ones, by Miss Frances Groff and Miss Frida Ludovici. In the dining-room, a doorway had been built up, and at a small window labelled "postoffice," Miss Groff presided as postmistress, and delivered to each little guest a pretty gift. A luncheon was served at a table, daintily decorated with pale blue satin ribbons, boxes of candy, animals and drums. Some delightful songs by little Miss Lella Holterhoff were very much enjoyed. The little guests were Lella Holterhoff, Juana Creighton, Margaret Sumner, Willie Creighton, Willie Gibbon, Ruth Montgomery, Alice Cline, Bilzabeth Hicks, Dick Lacy and Anson and Nathalie Whiting.

A BIRTHDAY SURPRISE. The O.N.O. Club gave one of their nembers, Miss Jennie Barrows, a birthday surprise Saturday evening, at the residence of her parents on West Jef-ferson street. Shortly before 9 o'clock, wenty-five people, mostly members of the club, walked in, shrouded in sheets the club, walked in, shrouded in sheets and pillow cases. Games and music were enjoyed. A RAINBOW PARTY The rainbow party given last evening by Mrs. Sam Page and Mrs. Will Egel-hoff at the residence of Mrs. J. A. Campbell, No. 1430 Union avenue, was a very pleasant affair. In one corner of the front parlor was arranged a rainbow, connecting with which were tangled lines, after the fashion of a cobweb. Partners found each other at the end of the lines, and two lucky guests discovered prizes at one end of the rainbow. Mrs. Albert Adams taking the ladies' a Venetian vase, and Mr. Hillis the gentlemen's, a cut glass inkstand. The remainder of the evening was devoted to progressive euchre. The refreshments were all in rainbow colors, and Mrs. Egelhoff, in a charming gown of Pink crepe, with garniture of violets, presided over the violet table. Mrs. Page, in yellow silk, presided at the yellow table, which was prettly decorated with narcissus. Mrs. Durkee dispensed the punch. RAIDING THE RESERVE.

The announcement of the new bond ssue for $100,000,000, instead of strengthening the gold reserve, seems likely to accelerate its depletion. There is reason to fear that a raid will be made upon the treasury to secure gold not only for export but for domestic hoarding, and in some cases to use in buying the new bonds when they re ready for the market. Thus a considerable portion of the gold secured by the government in exchange for the new bonds will have been previously drawn from the treasury. This proces of depleting the gold reserve for the purpose of getting gold to replenish it not prove exceedingly profitable to the government, nor will it mate sents legal-tenders for redemption to the amount of, say $10,000,000, and uses the gold thus obtained to buy $10,-000,000 worth of bonds, the treasury will have no more gold than before. after they have been redeemed, must under the act of May 31, 1878, be paid out again by the treasury and "kept back into the hands of those who will again use them to draw gold from the

This "endless chain" arrangement is certainly a very serious menace to the stability of the national credit, beside being extremely farcical, illogical and abaurd. It places the treasury at the mercy of financial sharks and speculators, and robs the government of the power to protect itself against the attacks of these predatory schemers.

It does not follow, because the legaltenders and Sherman treasury notes are thus used to pump gold out of the treasury, that they should be retired absolutely from circulation, as President Cleveland desires them to be. To retire them permanently would be to contract the currency unnecessarily. As for the Sherman notes, the law is not mandatory as to their reissue after redemption. It provides that they "may be reissued" after having been med. These notes could there fore be locked up in the treasury indefinitely, provided the revenues of the government were large enough to ned notes would not be needed for that purpose So far as the Sherman concerned, therefore, the treasury has power under the existing proper use in a time like the present, when they are likely to be employed that is to say, the treasury would have such power if its revenues were suffiyears past been insufficient to et current expenses, has been a ce of weakness, and has exposed the treasury to the tender mercies of

As regards the legal-tender notes the law making their reissue manda the treasury some control over their use in a time like the present. The suggestion of Senator Sherman on this gestion of Senator Sherman on this ad, in his recent speech, seems to eminently practicable. He proed that the law should be suggested that the redemption fund or gold reserve, should be maintaine solely for redemption purposes, and should be held sacred from any other use. These provisions, if embodied in the law, would effectually protect the gold reserve from depletion by speculators and gold-hoarders.

Sherman's suggestions are worthy of Washington advices report large withdrawals of gold yesterday, the gold eserve being now down to $58,326,710. The prospects are that there will be still heavier withdrawals in the very near future, and the idea is freely expressed that it may be necessary to make a deal with the bond syndicate within the next ten days to protect the reserve from annihilation, instead of waiting for gold to come in by popular subscription:

Congress owes a duty to the nation which it should in no event fail to perform before the gold reserve, after eing replenished by the loan just authorized, shall again be depleted. This duty is to devise some simple and practical measure, such as has been suggested by Mr. Sherman, by which the treasury can protect itself in time of need, without plunging the country into debt in $100,000,000 installments. and common-sense in Congress to ac complish this desirable result without serious friction. AT THE PLAYHOUSES.

LOS ANGELES THEATER. There is the distinctly pungent flavor of Sardou in the play of "Helena," which Robert Downing presented last night, for it is wrought out on the peculiarly risque lines which that writer follows in "La Tosca" and the other emanations which have fallen from his pen, and its authorship is unmistakable. To be sure, it is scarcely a tale of passion for lust's sake, but rather one for revenge.

The story is to this end: Orso, a plebelan chief of the Guelphs, returning victorious from the games, drops one of his flowering trophies before a woman of the Patricians, who stands watching the procession. As it chances.

watching the procession. As it chances, the fair creature is Helena, one of the Ghibellines, who deems Orso's act an insult, and she throws the flowers in the chieftain's face. This act of the chieftain's face. This act of the haughty beauty is the signal for mortal combat, and, after three days of slaughter, the Guelphs are the victors, and the Saracini palace falls into their hands. Helena is in the palace at the time of the capture and, being discov-ered by Orso, she is borne away to a room in the darkness and treated with room in the darkness and treated with unspeakable indignity. The play opens on the day succeeding this shameful outrage, when Helena reveals to her brother Guido and other chiefs of his tribe the ignominy to which she has been subjected, and they take an oath to avenge her. A truce is called for a day, that the dead may be buried and the wounded succored. While at the cathedral Helena recognizes the voice of Orso and stabs him in the back. She thinks him dead and turns from him to day, that the dead may be buried and the wounded succored. While at the cathedral Helena recognizes the voice of Orso and stabs him in the back. She thinks him dead and turns from him to fall before the figure of the virgin in prayers for forgiveness. Orso is, however, only wounded, and his groans recall Helena to his side. She has him removed secretly to the palace, where, through her tender ministrations, he is restored to health. Orso, penitent, touched, remorseful, asks her to wed him that he may wipe out her dishonor. She consents upon condition that he unite the warring tribes.

Guido, the brother, discovers his sister's love for the Guelph chieftain. He despises Orso for his lowly birth, and heaps abuse upon his sister for having condoned an unpardonable offense. He attempts to drag her from the church, but she falls in a faint at the altar. A priest enters and Guido hands him a vial of poison under the pretense that it is a cordial. The priest unwittingly administers the fatal draught to the fainting girl just as Orso, who has fulfilled his promise, returns at the head of his victorious army. He sees Helena prostrate and the bystanders cry out that she has the plague, but the hero beats down the drawn swords that would bar his way and clasps her in his arms. Having touched her, a victim of the plague, he, under the law, is likewise unclean, and is isolated by having the doors of the church locked against him. He at last discovers that Helena is poisoned, and in trying to tear down the gates that he may go for help, reopens his old wound, and the unhappy lovers fall dead in each other's arms.

As may be well understood from this somewhat scanty synopsis of the plot, 'Helena' is rich in material for powerful acting and it is skillfully made use of by Mr. Downing and Miss Blair. Mr. Downing veils the repellant features of the character with consummate art and builds him, one would say, better than Sardou knew.

Miss Blair's Helena reveals to us a reserved force that places her on a high plane as an actress lips might grate upon the ears, fal from hers without a taint of grossness and in her splendor of beauty and ir plendor of beauty and in ence of her garb she i every inch the patrician.

In construction the piece is master-ful in movement and tense in interest, but there is the gloom of tragedy at its close, and throughout not one gleam of sunshine — that foll for shadow which makes the written drama truly great.

The support last evening again demonstrated its superior ability. Edwin Ferry's Guido was a most excellent performance, rich with the lambent flame of true dramatic fire. Mr. Kolker flame of true dramatic fire. Mr. Kolker as Ugone, the Guelph captain, deserves more than this line of praise in passing. Charles M. Collins made the most of a not overly strong part, that of the Bishop, and Mrs. F. M. Bates as Uberta was commendable in all ways.

The setting of the play is opulent in color and grandeur. No pains have been spared to make this feature fitting and proper to the scene and the period. There is the very atmosphere if Italy about the cloisters, and one can in fancy scent the odors of the orange blooms whose snows are heaped upon blooms whose snows are heaped the distant walls. Tonight that gramma "The Gladiator."

COMING ATTRACTION, May Irwin, who opens Friday evening, January 10, at the Los Angeles Theater, is inimitable in the singing negro melodies, has introduced two songs of this description in "The Widow Jones," and they have created something of a furore as well as having eclipsed "Mamle, Come Kiss Your Honey Boy," which the comedienne popularized last season in "A Country Sport." One of these songs, "The New Bully," in which Miss Irwin-describes the experiences of a colored gentleman going down the alley with an ax and razor to "wipe out" his rival, is said to be, in its way, a veritable gem of most artistic quality.

THE MIDWINTER NUMBER.

(San Francisco Call:) The Los Angeles Times has achieved more than ordinary success this year in the publication of its annual Midwinter Number. Forty pages filed with handsome illustrations and well-written articles concerning the southern portion of the State constitute a volume of information that will be of great value in attracting capital and settlers, and it well deserves the liberal patronage which will be accorded it by the people.

(Riverside Enterprise, Jan. 2:) The Midwinter edition of the Los Angeles Times, which made its appearance yes-terday, is a credit to its city and an honor to its publishers.

"Among the Very Best." (Riverside Press:) Among the very best of the New Year's editions published by our exchanges—and which are really "too numerous to mention" at length—is that of that perfect newspaper, the Los Angeles Times.

LETTERS TO THE TIMES.

The Ring in Politics. SANTA BARBARA, Jan. 6.—(To the Editor of The Times.) The present prominence of Senator Watson C. Squire of the State of Washington, Squire of the State of Washington, made prominent by his determination to have the defenses of the coast of the United States improved, recalls an incident, never before published, of his election to the United States Senate in 1889. Squire's political bark was saling upon troubled waters, and the chances of his donning the Senatorial toga were growing doubtful each day. When matters looked their blacksst, a newspaper man of his State called on him and told him that he had the greatest mascot known. This newspaper man informed the Senator that it had never failed in business matters, therefore it might prove a balm in Gilead to Squire's Senatorial aspirations. The mascot was a ring which the newspaper man claimed had been worn by Rameses III, and this he handed the Senator, who readily, almost greedily, clutched it it is positively known that per man claimed had been worn by Rameses III, and this he handed the Senator, who readily, almost greedily, clutched it. It is positively known that Senator Squire wore this ring throughout the remainder of his contest for Senatorial honors. Whether it was the potent force or not, Squire was elected, and subsequent incidents prove that he had a superstitious belief in its efficacy. In 1890 the writer had occasion to meet Squire in Washington, and during the interview he remarked that he regretted having returned the ring to its owner before he and the now ex-Senator Allen of Washington had drawn to see who should have the long and short term. This remark, which was made with all due seriousness by Squire, proves that the Senator had faith in the mascotic powers of the ring.

This same ring played a part in the late Senatorial contest, wherein a wealthy banker of Walla Walls sought son. The contest had been bitter and close, with a chance of their being another deadlock. At this stage of the proceedings the Rameses ring was sent to Ankeny. Whether it had exhausted its magic powers in securing Squire's election in 1889, it is difficult to deterelection in 1888, it is difficult to determine; nevertheless, Ankeny failed of election, Wilson being elected.

It is to be regretted that there are not more of these rings in existence, for then money would not play so active a part in Senatorial contests. The geniuses of America have here an opportunity to develop their ingenuity, and build up a new and popular industry.

ONE WHO KNOWS.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 6.—(To the Edi-or of The Times:) Having always been a great admirer of the American public-school system, I am somewhat loth to draw your attention to a case of such eccentric tyranny that it merits public rebuke. It surely should not be a matter for reproach that the son of a chizen happens to be of English birth, and that such an accident should be used by a teacher in a public school for the constant ventilation of her antifor the constant ventilation of her anti-English spleen, seems preposterous. My boy, I consider, has received un-just treatment from his teacher, and an incident that occurred this morning will, I think, prove this statement. The boy was a quarter of an hour late for school, but was armed with a note of explantion status that his note of explanation stating that his tardiness was due to his having been sent on an errand. The teacher, after inquiring into the nature of the errand, which was that his mother had been taken ill and he had been sent off for a declary appeaded to threaten him taken ill and he had been sent off for a doctor, proceeded to threaten him with suspension if he was late again, and also let loose the extraordinary proposition that next time his parents wanted him to go on an errand he must come and get her permission first.

Such monstrous treatment can only bring down on her head the ridicule of her pupils, and should induce a severe reprimand from the superintendent.

The Times hastens to explain that school children born in the United States of this republic are frequently treated in a similar manner by schoolteachers, who have ceased to be servants of the public, but aspire to be masters. The schoolmaster is abroad in the land, and he is boss not only of the pupils, but of their parents, tamblen.—(Ed Times.

Water and Water Charges.

(To the Editor of The Times.) Unless fully understood, the recent action of the San Diego Land & Town Company in doubling the water rates on the lands under the Sweetwater Dam will make many hesitate before investing under ditches in Southern California. The real state of the case should be published by every paper in the country and be on the tongue's end of every real estate agent!

With but four or five exceptions the canals south of the Tehachepi are landowner's canals. They fix the rates for maintenance only. If they should be too high, they get it back in dividends; if too low, they pay assessments on the stock. In all cases it is simply taking money out of one pecket and putting it in the other. There is never any trouble about rates in these companies. Of the others, the The Land and Town Company is the only one in which the rates are not fixed perpetually by contract at a sum satisfactory to both parties at the time of the sale of the water. In all those companies there is no trouble. Nor has there been any; except under the late stupid management of the San Diego Flume, which the present management has straightened to the satisfaction of consumers. The Land and Town Company, by ignoring the business methods of Southern California in regard to water, finds itself in trouble, as its works were undoubtedly expensive from bown prices, and building, too, far shead of the demand. But nowhere else is there any trouble between land-owners and companies, nor will there be any.

"There is a heroic way of settling the whole difficulty, fraught with honor to both governments and with results of priceless worth to both peoples. pany, that the British in the Transvail were ripe for revolt, and that if he would take the initiative the Uitlanders would rise and support him. Dr. Jameson then began preparations for a raid upon Johannesburg, marching about seven hundred men and plenty of ammunition, but with little food, on the Transvaal border. When the right moment arrived, a letter was sent to him to go to the assistance of his compatriots, who were in danger at the hands of the Boers, then riding about the streets and country in a most threatening manner.

On Monday, December 30, Dr. Jameson's force crossed the Transvaal border without the knowledge, however, it would seem, of the Uitlanders of Johannesburg. He cut the telegraph wires behind him to prevent being ordered back by the British government, it is claimed, and pushed for Kruegersdorf, where he expected to set reinforcements of 3000 Uitlanders.

On the following day the Central Committee of Uitlander Citizens constituted themselves a provisional government and sent an ultimatum to the government of President Krueger at Pretoria. The latter proposed a conference at Pretoria on the following day, Wednesday, but the committee appointed by the new government hesitated to go to Pretoria without a safe conduct. By this time the new that Dr. Jameson had crossed the border was in Johannesburg, and his arrival at that place was expected hourly.

his arrival at that place was expected hourly.

In the mean time the Boers, who seem to have been fully aware of Jameson's proposed raid, gathered a force of about 5000 well-armed, well-mounted, excellently-trained farmer huntsmen, whose rifies always speak in deadly earnest. This caused a feeling of alarm among the Ultlanders, numbers of whom left the town during the night in bands of fifty each, and the hope of raising a force to assist Jameson began to melt away like snow beneath a warm sun.

in bands of fifty each, and the hope of raising a force to assist Jameson began to melt away ilke snow beneath a warm sun.

Later a committee of the provisional government sent a communication to Sir Hercules Robinson, the Governor of Cape Colony, asking protection. This caused a hurried exchange of cable messages with the home government and everything possible was done to call Dr. Jameson back, but in vain.

Eventually, however, the committee of the provisional government of Johannesburg went to Pretoria and had an interview with President Krueger on Wednesday evening. The President, after listening to the complaints, promised to redress their grievances, give the Uitlanders representation in the government of the Transvaal and concluded a three day's armistice with the insurgents and thus removed any further real cause for raising men to support Dr. Jameson.

Meanwhile the provisional government retained Johannesburg. The foreign residents generally united in asking President Krueger to inaugurate reforms, stating that otherwise they would do nothing to aid him.

When Dr. Jameson's forces were first sighted in the Transvaal territory they were met by a messenger from Commander Marco, who requested them to withdraw. Dr. Jameson replied that he intended proceeding with his original plans, which were not hostile to the people of the Transvaal.

Fighting between the Boers and the invaders commenced soon afterward near Kruegersdorf, where the Boers outnumbered Dr. Jameson's command by at least six to one. After desultory fighting for twenty-four hours without food, against overwhelming numbers, the invaders were compelled to surrender. According to the best estimates, about one hundred and fifty of Dr. Jameson's followers were killed and about fifty were wounded. They were taken to Pretoria.

It is a great question, and one that has been forced upon public attention by the action of the Chicago publishers. The fashion set in the big city by the lake is being followed in other places, and we are either at the outer gate or within the walls of an age of marvel-newspapers.

SUITABLY MARKED BY AN APPRO-PRIATE MONUMENT.

His Fellow-engineers and the Peo-ple Raise a Tablet to His Nem-ory-The Movement Was Started by the Los Angeles Times.

(Stockton Independent, Dec. 31, 1895.)
A committee, consisting of I. Jordan, William Hatfield and Emile Frick, Leland Stanford division, No. 283, of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, arrived in Stockton yesterday morning for the purpose of accepting the monument which has been erected over the grave of Engineer Samuel Clarke. The engineer was killed in the accident at the Yolo bridge on the 11th of July, 1894, when the soldiers' train was wrecked by stalkers and for the wrecking of which Samuel Warden is now under sentence of death.

The monument was erected principally by popular subscription, the movement having been started by the Los Angeles Times and taken up by the Oakland Enquirer and Sacramento Bee, and also by the focomotive engineers of the Southern Pacific road. In a very short time $600 was raised and the sarcophagus was purchased to mark the spot in which the engineer lies buried. The monument is of Barse grantite, and the base and curbing of the lot of California granite. The design is by the Stockton firm of Dickson, Woodhull & Cramer, and all of the work except the carving of the Barre granite was done by it. The eastern portion of the monument was brought from Boston by the Southern Pacific Railroad free of expense to the engineers. It stands fully 6 feet high, and is 6 feet 4 inches by 4 feet 2 linches at the base and the cap is 3 feet 9 inches by 2 feet. On the broader side of the die the dead engineer's name is inscribed with the chroumstances of this death and beneath are the words "Courage" and "Fidelity."

were dispensed with. The committee accepted the monument, assuring the local marblemen of their entire satisfaction with the work. After the acceptance the grave was decerated by the committee. The gentlemen left on the afternoon train to report to the division which sent them here. They promise to send to the local firm of marblemen some testimonial of the appreciation of the engineers for the work done.

Cithe Sacramento Record-Union:) The electric purification of sewage has now been demonstrated to be economic and feasible, a fact that will go far toward correcting sewerage abuses in many cities, now tolerated because of the heavy cost of sewage disposal where there is not great fall and swirt and distant discharge. One gratifying thing about it, too, is the fact that the discovery is due to an American municipal engineer. While the "Hermite" process has been so styled because of the success of the experiments at Havre, France, the truth is that an American Engineer Wolf, was the first to propose the idea and to carry it into effect at Brewsters, N. Y., on the Croton watershed, which supplies New York, existing which supplies New York, with water for domestic uses. The Hermite really followed Engineer Wolf's system. The report of Dr. Cyrus Edson, Health Officer of New York, establishes the fact in the claim for priority. At Ispwich, England, the entire sewage of the town is now rendered harmless by the electric process, as is done at Havre. It is requisite for economical use of the process that sea water should be treated by the electric current, so that by electroly-sis the water is decomposed and a solution of chloring is produced. sea water should be treated by the electric current, so that by electroly-sis the water is decomposed and a solution of chlorine is produced This completely destroys all bacteria and purifies the sewage. It is shown that 6.37 pounds of chlorine produced by one electrical horse-power will purify 14,000 gallons of sewage per day of ten hours. The cost where sea water can be had is little more than nominal, outside of the cost of electrical power, which is light. In inland cities the cost of salt must be added. Even then, it is held, it will be ten times less than in the use of bleaching powder at wholesale prise. For hospitals and public buildings the process is very inexpensive. Sufficient energy can be, taken from electric lighting wires to decompose the salt water. This is taken from electric lighting wires to decompose the salt water. This is taken in tanks and discharged into the house drains, and the cleanly and harmless fluid will purify all traps, drains, sinks and pools, and disinfect all material within the building. If all is true that is claimed for the process, then the solution has at last been reached concerning sewage disposal that will work great good, for there are now few towns or cities where electrical energy is not employed, and where it cannot be applied to disinfection of the public sewage.

He had a vase under his arm and had taken a lot of other goods from the shelves when the proprietor discovered him and telephoned for an officer. Mr. Stiles jumped into his hurry-up wagon and was soon at the spot, where he made a prisoner of the burglar. Donahue denies that he broke into the store. He says he found the door open and walked in.

Indeed, there was no open grave for the rider and his pale horse to tumble into, which fact is due to the failure of the which fact is dae to the failure of the committee having the matter in charge to employ a grave-digger. Perhaps the committeemen thought it too grave a subject to monkey with, but they at least might have provided the wax and butter necessary to prepare the victim for the tomb. Unfortunately neither wax, butter nor wooden overcoat were provided by the committeemen for the successful carrying out of the experiment and the onus of the failure therefore is on their heads, says Prof. Tyndall.

Surely the professor cannot be blamed for the faisco, for he became dead to the world for thirty-two hours and placed himself in the hands of his committee to be planted good and deep beneath the adobe soil of Brooklyn Heights.

It was fortunte for the committee, placed himself in the hands of his committee to be planted good and deep beneath the adobe soil of Brooklyn Heights.

It was fortunte for the committee, perhaps, that one of its members, taking the cue from The Times, ransacked the statutes of the State of California and of the United States and discovered that to bury a man alive intentionally, even though with his knowledge and consent, would constitute a felony in case the victim should fail to be dug up alive at a subsequent date. When this startling discovery in criminal law was impressed on the minds of the committee, the members, as one man, decilined to make themselves liable to prosecution for manslaughter.

Furthermore, the committeemen, in their anxiety to please the public and gratify the morbid mob which surged up and down the corridors of the Ramona Hotel in mad desire to see the mystic in his death trance before he should go under the ground, gave carte blanche to visitors who thronged the rooms and pump-handled the victim's arms and legs. These disturbing conditions prevented the patient from acquiring the semblance of a cold clammy cornse, on schedule time, and thus afforded the committee an excuse for not providing coffin, butter and wax and securing the services of a grave-digger. As the hour for the entombment of the victim drew on the mystic's pulse, respiration and temperature more nearly approached the normal condition, so when the committee met in secret session at 630 a.m., with all members, including "Prof." Bell, present, it was decided to rouse the mystic from his trance instead of planting him in the cold, moist earth.

Just about the time that this conclusion was reached, Detective Frank H. Steele, representing Chief of Police Glass, appeared on the scene with a stern look in his eyes and never a quaver in his voice and warned the committee, one and all, that the planting of Tyndall was strictly forbidden, because Mrs. Tyndall, who was the most interested person, being the "professor's" better half, had telegraphed a protest. Gen P

Pierce rose to the occasion and informed the minion of the law that the committee knew its turiness and would take whatever action in the matter it saw best, regardless of the wishes of Mrs. Tyndall or anybody else, whatever his or her badge of authority. The detective told the committee to go ahead and do what it pleased, but beware of the strong arm of the law.

At 7 a.m. the seven regular members of the committee, with "Prof." Bell thrown in for good measure, a Times reporter, the local Associated Press manager and Detective Steele entered the chamber where the entraned hypmanager and Detective Steele entered the chamber where the entraned hypnotist lay. "Prof." Bell took the initiative in the subsequent proceedings. First he spread a blanket on the floor, then with the assistance of others he lifted the rigid and elongated trance victim from his bed and laid him on the blanket. Then the awakening began. Seven members of the committee knelt around the prostrate form of the cataleptic, "Prof." Hell at the head. Then they started a vigorous process of rubbing, slapping and shouting at the victim.

we're going to have a drink!"

These and other exclamations were shouted into the ears of the entranced hypnotist by the brass-lunged Beil. But still Tyndall apeared dead to the world. Meantime his body was rubbed vigorously, the committeemen shedding large drops of sweat. They also shed their coats and put him through a sort of jack-plane process. Finally Bell cooed into his ear: "Professor! Frofessor! without quotation marks! Here's the bold bad Times reporter and he says he will never put quotation marks around your title again if you'll only wake up!"

This soothing remark and the jack-planing had the desired effect and presently Tyndall opened his eyes.

"Have I been burled?" he gently murmured, as he seemed to come back to life.

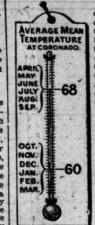

"Of course you have" said these

"Of course you have," said that cheerful liar, "Prof." Bell, as he slapped the other professor on the back. "You did it, old boy, despite my croaking, and you're famous. Now get up, Tyndall."

With this they raised the bushy-headed slim giant to his feet and half led half carried him to his bed, upon which he was placed, and a little water forced between his lips. Then Chief Custodian of Corpse Moore rushed out and presently returned with a pitcher of het milk, half a glass of which the reanimated hypnotist drank with apparent relish, but declined more. It took just half as hour to bring the victim back from spookdom, and when it became apparent that his astral had safely returned to its covering.

He opposed my plans all the way through, I had the faithful promise of the committeemen that they would carry out my instructions, but they did not do it, and that accounts for the failure," and the professor sank back on his pillow and heaved a deep sigh.

"Falling Stars" was the interesting subject which was discussed as a even-ing by the astronomically-inclined members of the Southern California Science Association. A dozen star-gaz-ers gathered in the Nadeau parlors at a p.m. William H. Knight, the presi-dent of this section, seated himself in a big easy-chair, and the other mem-bers drew around him for a delightdent of this section, seated himself in a big easy-chair, and the other members drew around him for a delightfully informal discussion. Mr. Knight spoke at some length on meteors and meteoric showers, with particular reference to the great meteoric shower which is scheduled for 1899. His words were illustrated with big diagrams and with circles and ellipses of wire. After Mr. Knight's talk he was piled with a number of questions on the subject, and there was a general intagchange of theories and experiences.

The next meeting of the section will occur on the first Tuesday in February, at the residence of Dr. Herbert M. Bishop, No. 2627 Hoover street, just across from the Casa de Rosas. The "Nebular Hypothesis" will be the theme of discussion.

Those present were William H. Knight, Mrs. Knight, Mrs. Knight, Mrs. Knight, Mrs. Gilmore of St. Louis. Mo.; Mr. Roughton, Dr. E. Arnold Praeger, Prof. Herbert M. Bishop and B. R. Baumgart.

The next meeting of the Science Association as a whole will be on Tuesday evening, January 14, at the Chamber of Commerce. J. B. Lippincott will speak on the hydrographic work of the United States Geological Survey.

W.C.T.U. Meeting.

The Los Angeles W.C.T.U. will have a meeting in the interest of the Ranson Home this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, in the First Baptist Church corner Sixth and Broadway. Mrs. M. S. Dimmick and others will tell what the work has accomplished and also its present needs. All are 'cordially invited, and each one is requested to bring one pound of some article for the benefit of the Home.

A person who would not buy gold dollars at 50c apiece would be considered a lunatic; still, if a man would stand out on the street corner and offer to sell gold dollars for 50c apiece he would be set down as a rank counterfeiter, and nine-tenths of the people would pass him by without buying. If Tyndall were a woman and some one would whisper special sale in her ears, she would rise up and rush to the nearest store for the bargains advertised. This may seem to be overdrawn, but it is not. The town is full of bargain sales and special sales, and about one in ten believes the story and about one in ten is wrong in believing. We are not having a special sale in the corset department, but we are selling the bestfitting corset in America, and that corset is the Royal Worcester. All corset dealers will say at once the Royal Worcester stands at the head, and it does. There is no disputing this point. There is no first-class corset in America that can approach the Royal Worcester for fit, durability, comfort and in the large lines shown. We show thirty-five styles. Some are long-waisted, some are medium and some extra long; others are short and extra short. Then we show the best corset for fit that is made for fleshy $2.00 ladies; well supported in the bust, with extra heavy double-side steels, and with the front steels reinforced with an extra quality of spring-tempered watchspring steel. The materials used are the heaviest and best made for this special purpose, after years of experimenting. If you would go to a regular corset-maker with an established reputation she could not make you a corset as good for double the money. The hips are gored so as to throw the weight evenly throughout the corset. But the price may be too high. Not so; we sell the Royal Worcester corsets from $1 and up. Any lady who wants to buy a corset, and can afford to pay $1, can buy the best corset made for that price. If she can afford to pay $1, $2 or $3 on up to $6 the same story can be told. The same care is taken in making the cheaper grades as there is in making the better ones. The materials and the work is where the extra expense comes in, We are selling the best corset you ever saw for 50c, black and slate, made by the Worcester Corset Company, not constituted the only happening in mu nicipal circles yesterday. The usual grist of police business occupied the at-tention of the Commissioners. Yesterday was an unusually quiet day at the Courthouse, and all the de partments were rather more staid and sleepy than usual. Joseph Mitchell pleaded guilty to larceny, and was sentenced to three years in San Quen-tin. Thomas Atwood was acquitted of the charge of burglary. A runaway from a Pennsylvania reform school himself up to the Sheriff to be back if the authorities thought

POLICE COMMISSIONERS.

Officers Notified that "They Must Pay as They Go."

Numerous complaints have been lodged with the Police Commission of late by creditors of police officers, that the said officers were allowing bills to run an unreasonable length of time before payment of them was made.

Officer Dixon was before the commission yesterday to explain his delinquency in this respect. Dixon plaintively said that he was doing the best he could to square his various indebtednesses. All he asked for was "time." Upon his promise to settle with his creditors a' once, he was aid, ed to depart the presence of the commissioners. It will hereafter be a rule with the commission that any policeman using his position to obtain credit, and neglecting to settle bills contracted under such chroumstances, will be dismissed from the department.

the application of W. Durm for a liquor license at No. 222 Commercial street, as follows:

"In regard to the application of William Durm for license for a saloon at No. 222 Commercial street, which was referred to me for investigation, I now respectfully report as follows:

"The saloon for which this license is asked is the one closed on the 31st day of December by the expiration of the license for the said month, which was in possession of Samuel Bonnoff when his license was revoked by the Police Commissioners on the 10th day of the said month, for violations of the closing ordinances, and is the same place formerly run by one Dominguez, whose license was also revoked for cause.

"You will note that this, application is dated December II, the day after the license was revoked, so that in this case, the same as when the Dominguez license for this place was revoked, it did not take long to find a man who was willing to have the license for the saloon business in this city, but I think it very doubtful that he would make the saloon business in this city, but I think it very doubtful that he would make the saloon business in this city, but I think it very doubtful that he would make the saloon what it should be; not at least until the old gang shall have time to get out of their habits of going there to get their Sunday and aftermidnight drinks, and meet their short-card friends. In other words, I think that now that the license of this place has twice been revoked, that it would be wise to keep it closed for a time, until a license shall be applied for by some man who would undoubtedly make a change in the place.

"The block in which this saloon room is located belongs to the D. Bastaucbury estate, and is of course all signed for the applicant. The block has a frontage, 602 feet. The block has a frontage of 661.6 feet; total frontage, 602 feet. The applicant has signed for him property having a frontage in the said blocks of 561.5 feet, which is about 40 feet less than two-thirds of the whole. His application als what property he signs, and as there is no piece of property in either of the blocks having a frontage of 102 feet, I have not counted it."

The report of the Chief was so that the chief was so that the chief was so the chief was so that the chief was so tha ing that the wholesale liquor firm of Goldschmidt Bros., owned the place; and that it was a decided injustice to them to shut up the saloon entirely, be-cause their tenant had chanced to be a law-breaker and disreputable characcause their tenant had chanced to be a law-breaker and disreputable character.

Commissioner Long aptly replied to this plea with the remark that wholesale dealers could save themselves from loss by seeing to it that decent men operated their retail stores. Commissioner Cook favored acting in accordance with the Chief's report and denying the petition. A compromise was made by deferring action one week, to allow of investigation on the part of some of the commissioners.

The petition received by the Council from merchants on Los Angeles street, asking for an abatement of the nuisance caused by the hobos gathered on East First street, which petition was referred to the commission, came before the board yesterday. It was referred to the Chief, who promised to do all in his power to abate the nuisance.

W. J. Lewis of Santa Cruz, asked for a permit to carry a concealed weapon. His request was denied.

A communication was received from Li Laventhal, saying that an increase in his wholesale liquor trade had decided him to dispense with the retail branch of his business, and he therefore asked that his retail license be cancelled, which was done.

The saloon at No. 112 Commercial street, which was recently complained of for permitting noisy music in its confines, presented a petition to the board yesterday for permission to operate musical instruments in the evening. The permission was granted, upon the condition that good order be maintained at all times in the saloon.

Applications for liquor licenses were received and referred to the Chief as follows:

both these branches of improvement make the new specifications of impor-tance and interest to the taxpayer and property-holder in Los Angeles.

CONSTRUCTION AND DIMENSIONS. In the matter of cement sidewalk and curbs the specifications require that the curbing shall be six inches on top by eighteen inches deep by twelve inches on the bottom, having a batter of three inches on each side, the curb to be composed of concrete of the proportion required by the City Engineer. Sidewalk shall be three and one-half inches thick, built on a foundation of properly roiled sand gravel. On this foundation concrete to a depth of three inches must be spread. A finishing coat is to follow, one-half inch thick, and the surface must then be smoothed and marked into blocks.

On streets where the cement sidewalk the street with width of the walk earth. In the matter of cement sidewalk and and marked into blocks.

On streets where the cement sidewalk is not the full width of the walk, earth or other material must be removed to the grade of the finished work. The whole width of walk must be left one continuous plane.

The material to be supplied in case of fill must be of good sound earth, and built up in layers of not to exceed one foot in thickness, each layer to be well packed and rolled with a roller weighing not less than 250 pounds to the lineal inch. All sidewalks and curbs must be protected from the sun and thoroughly watered for ten days after completion.

All cement used shall be of the best Portland cement.

A RADICAL CHANGE. In the matter of cement tests, to show the quality, fineness, strength and the article, the specifications are changed so that the City Enginee is made the arbiter in deciding as to these various points, instead of the Street Superintendent, as formerly. All tests shall be made by the methods and under the conditions prescribed by the committee of the American Society of Civil Engineers, and shall be open to contractors. The contractor shall give at least one week's notice to the City Engineer, so that he may test the cement which it is proposed to use on the work. No cement shall be hauled on the work that has not been tested and accepted by the City Engineer. Concrete shall consist of one part by measure of cement to six parts of sand and gravel. All concrete shall be mixed by skilled workmen on a proper water-tight platform. No concrete shall be used that shows evidence of having set, that has become unfit for good work from standing too long or from any other cause, and no remixing of concrete shall be allowed. The finishing coat shall consist of one part of cement to one part of sand, and shall be floated into position.

In all street intersections and terminations the cement sidewalk shall be laid so as to cover the entire surface included within the prolongation of the side lines of the intersecting streets and the curb returns. The radius of curb returns shall be eight feet on all streets where the angle of intersection does not vary from a right-angle more than 30 deg., and on all other streets the radius shall be shown on the profile. is made the arbiter in deciding as to these various points, instead of the

SEWER SPECIFICATIONS. SEWER SPECIFICATIONS.

The new sewer specifications provide that all pipe shall be of the first quality of vitrified salt-glazed sewer pipe, sound and well burned throughout its entire thickness, not more than one-twelfth of an inch in diameter for every three inches. For all diameters up to twelve inches and for diameters of twelve inches and upward, double-strength pipe must be used.

All socket pipes must be in pieces two feet in length and all pipe rejected must be immediately removed from the work. Ys must be placed twenty-five degrees except when otherwise specified. Ys and head ends of all pipe must be closed with earthenware caps, and the space above filled with wet sand, with a thin coating of cement mortar. In excavating tunnels may be dug not less than ten feet apart in all excavations where the trench is more than ten feet deep, which tunnels must be two feet above the pipe when laid.

The contractor must, at his own expense pump out the water or sewage which he may find upon any piece of work; he must brace and plank all tunnels over four feet in length whenever necessary.

Where rock is blasted it must be taken out three inches below the outer bottom of the sewer, and the trench must then be laid with sand to the level of the grade and where water pipe is encountered, rock necessary to be excavated for a width of five feet on each side of the main pipe and in all cases to be removed without blasting. be excavated for a width of five feet on each side of the main pipe and in all cases to be removed without blasting. Free access must be left in digging to all hydrants and water gates. Oakum gaskets must be used wherever it has been found necessary to pump or drain or remove water from the trench or tunnel. Before the trenches are refilled the tops of all tunnels not over four feet in length must be trimmed to a V shape. All gravel used for packing must be replaced by good, clean, fresh gravel.

In all ungraveled streets new sewers must be covered with dirt to a depth not less than three feet; where the trenches do not furnish material of proper quality the contractor must procure the deficiency at his own cost.

The City Engineer must test all work under the rules of the American Society of Civil Engineers. All cement work must be at least 95 per cent in weight. All cement used must be the best Portland variety, and the contractor must give at least one week's notice for the purposes of testing.

The manholes and flushtanks in all sewers must contain an eight-inch arch where the pipe is over twelve inches in diameter, and four-inch arch where the pipe is over twelve inches in diameter, and four-inch arch where the pipe is over twelve inches the pipe is under twelve inches. The bottom of the manholes must be provided with iron bars three-fourths of an inch thick and fifteen inches apart. No connection of a sewer with drains is allowed before the conspletion and acceptance of the former, and no incompetent workmen shall be employed, and the Street Superintendent shall compel any imperfect work to be corrected. The contractor will have to be responsible for any damages the city may have to pay in consequence of his failure to protect the public from injury. He must not obstruct travel and must properly fence his work and must post a red light and employ a nightwatch man with the same.

AT THE COURTHOUSE.

Joseph Mitchell Given Three Year

Judge Smith was not holding court yesterday afternoon, but one small ses-sion was called in order to give Joseph Mitchell a chance to plead guilty to the charge of burglary. Mitchell is a tall, thin, consumptive-looking man of 48, and he made a pitiful showing when asked about his crime. He said he had been a sailor for twenty years, and had gone around the world several times, landing at last in San Francisco, whence he had worked his way inland. He owned, with many tears and much contrition, to being the victim of a targhle habit with many tears and much contrition, to being the victim of a terrible habit. He drank, and drank hard, whenever he could get the chance. He had never been in port for the last fifteen years without going on a spree, and being relieved, in some way or other, of all his pay, and he had been assaulted and robbed several times.

In answer to a question of Judge Smith's he declared that he had been drunk when he entered the house of Miss Lena Franco, and took a pair of trousers and some other small articles, and $12.50. As the robbery had occurred in the daytime, and he vowed that he had never seen the inside of a prison, Judge Smith gave him three, years in San Quentin, observing as he did so: "Well, old man, I will put you into a port where you can't get drunk, and where they won't rob you or knock you down."

Mitcheli had expressed a strong desire to be sent to San Quentin, as he had heard that it was healthy, and that there was a good physician there. He said that the bad air in the jail was rapidly increasing his malady, which was the reason that he had pleaded guilty that he might be sent to the coast.

After the prisoner was disposed of it gulity that he might be sent to the coast.

After the prisoner was disposed of it transpired that he had been playing a crocodile game, that he had already served three terms in the penitentiary, and was an all-around hard case. He will probably get ho credit-marks to shorten his stay within the hospitable walls of San Quentin.

CASE OF CONSCIENCE. Pugitive from Justice Surrender

Himself to the Sherig.

A strange story was told to Sherig.

Burr yesterday, when Albert Diffenderfer, a good-looking lad of 17, walked into the Sherig's office and stated that he wished to surrender himself as a runaway from the reform school at Huntingdon, Penn. The Sheriff, somewhat nonplussed by the strange confession of the boy, telegraphed at once to the authorities at Huntingdon, and the boy stayed in the office all day, patiently awaiting the reply which would decide his fate.

The young fellow had been put into the reform school on three separate charges of larceny, and one of chonious entry. He was in the school for a year, and was then allowed to go out on parole, almost the only restriction placed upon him being the necessity of reporting to the superintendent at regular intervals. After three monins of working about in the neighborhood of the reform school, Young Diffenderfer broke his parole and went hometo his parents, who are well-to-do people at Lancaster, Pa.

Baptist Church, and made every effort to wipe out the past.

Religion took a strong hold on the boy's nature, and he brooded heavily over the fact that he was living a lie, At-last he could bear it no longer, and, on Monday evening, rose in prayer-meeting and made a full confession of his past history, avowing his intention of immediately giving himself up to the Sheriff to be sent back to serve out his term in the reform school, if the authorities so willed it.

As late as 5 o'clock last evening no reply telegram had been received, and Sheriff Burr felt strongly inclined to release the boy and trust him to work out his own salvation.

Stole Liquid Peptonoids.

Deputy Sheriff Martin Aguirre yesterday marched into the Sheriff's office, proudly towing a Mexican and a wooden box. The Mexican was Nemecio Roguer, and the box was addressed to F. W. Braun, and contained hair a dozen bottles of liquid peptonoids. Mr. Aguirre had forgathered with the Mexican down in Sonoratown, and was offered the box and its contents for 50 cents. Scenting something wrong the officer told him that he should have 75 cents if he would take the box home for him. Nemecio joyfully consented and took the box home—to the Sheriff's office. He himself was given gratuitous lodging in the County Jail. On this way to the Courthouse, the man had offered Mr. Aguirre a suit of clathes very cheap, but he grew blandly unconscious of the existence of any such suit after he discovered the true character of his new friend.

The petition of Dick Vanderkarr for writ of habeas corpus was, by order of Judge Smith, taken on transcript to the lower court. The petition was based on the ground that real subornation of perjury took place in Ventura county, only the results being shown here.

Atwood Acquitted.

Thomas Atwood, arrested as a plair drunk and then held on suspicion of drunk and then helden suspicion of larceny on account of stolen goods being found in his possession, was acquitted of the charge of larceny yesterday in Department One. Atwood accounts for the fact of a book and a razor belonging to Charles Buchanan being found in his possession, by saying that they were given him by a man at the Free Labor Bureau. As there was no proof that such was not the case, Atwood was discharged.

A Cessation of Hostilities. A Cessation of Hostilities.

Mrs. Maggie O'Bryan, who recently filed a complaint against her husband, J. A. She withdraws the complaint, and he gives her $25 a month for the three months. After the expiration of that time their little dimoulties will be adjusted in court. The condemnation suits of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company vs. N. W. Stowell et al. and G. W. Hughes are still on trial in Department Four. Upon a stipulation field, Judge Mc-Kinley ordered that the injunction issued in the case of Dunning vs. the Empire Oil Company be dissolved, the application for a receiver dicharged and the cause continued.

The case of Woodham vs. Cline and Pease was argued yesterday and submitted to Judge Clark. The furniture in dispute was attached on the supposition that it belonged to Mrs. Richards not for debts incurred by a son of Mrs. Woodham's.

Judge York dismissed the mechanic's lien case of Jensen vs. Hayes et al. A suit for divorce brought by Hiram W. Leach against his wife. Mary L. Leach, on statutory grounds, was partly heard by Judge York and continued until today.

With a tremendous rattle of drums and piping of fifes seventy veterans of the Confederate and Union armies yesterday clasped hands and offered up thanks that the war was over and done with and that the lapse of years, bringing fresh honor and renown for the heroism of either side, had at last wiped out sectional hatred and distrust. He delivered a cordial address of welcome and introduced Commander Fairbanks of Frank Bartlett post, G.A.R. Mr. Fairbanks was followed by Col. Mudge, He gave a stirring account of his memories of Chicamauga. It was a vivid picture of the great armies as they lay encamped the night before the battle, as they poured against each other in the awful struggle, and of the gheattly sight when the battle was lost and won.

C. A. Shafer made an excellent speech upon the dedication of the great Chickamauga National Park. He told of the ceremonies, dignifed from their simplicity, of which he was so fortunate as to be a witness, and repeated Gen. Longstreet's message of peace and good will.

E. St. Julien Cox spoke briefly. C. C. Srown, past commander of the John F. Godfrey post of Pasadena described a Scotchman's feeling for his adopted sountry, and spoke of the value of the ight kind of foreign-born citizens. This was the last speech of the atterion. A vote of thanks was tendered by the Confederates to the G.A.R. men or attending the meeting. The entire company voted thanks to the fifers and irrummers for their stirring, old-time music. Then a recess of five minutes was taken, to give the presiding officer ime to appoint a committee to arrange for regular monthly meetings of the veterans.

Mr. Thorpe appointed Messrs. J. J. Gosper, Melvin Mudge, A. C. Shafer, C. C. Brown, John Burns, J. C. Maccabe, J. Marion Brooks, C. E. J. White, Dr. Harrison and Dr. Hance. By a unanimous vote Mr. Thorpe himself was asked to serve on the committee. The meeting then adjourned.

The committee held a brief conference at the close of the meeting, and agreed to meet at 2 p.m. Saturday in Col. J. Marion Brooks's office in the Downey Block.

THE CONFEDERATES MEET. The ex-Confederate Veterans' Association met at 7:30 p.m., to hold the first annual election of officers. John C.

He was builed to the drug store of Off & Yaughn, whence Dr. N. H. Morrison had him conveyed to his home at No. 125 Rose street. Beyond a bad bump and a small but deep cut on the forehead and a bruised hip and wrist, his injuries are not thought to be severe. The usual verdict of a hasty public said he was "shocked," but the fact is he fell merely through making a misstep on his ladder. A. G. Huff, a lineman for the Los

The dispatches from Denver regard-ing the alleged arrest there at the re-quest of Chief Glass of George E Hurley

The dispatches from Denver regarding the alleged arrest there at the request of Chief Glass of George E Hurley and a man named Dovner, the first for burglary and the second for receiving stolen property, were slightly mixed. Chief Glass explained yesterday that Hurley was arrested here and is no other person than Fred Marshall, the daring it daylight burglar, who owes his capture to the pluck of Mrs. Thomas Rowan, Jr. Hurley is the name Marshall is known by in Colorado, where he served a three years' sentence in State's prison for burglary.

Soon after Marshall's arrest here, it was learned that he had sent a box of jewelry to a confederate in Denver, and it was on this information that Downer was arrested in the latter-city at the request of Chief Glass. A box of jewelry was sprung on Downer as a decoy, but he falled to fall into the trap by acknowledging to the Denver detectives that he was expecting a consignment of jewelry from California. There being no positive evidence against Downer the officers were obliged to release him, although Chief Glass is of the opinion, from information in his possession, that Dovner has been receiving stolen goods from California.

Marshallor Hurley is still in the County Jali here, awalting trial on several charges of burglary.

Incidentally Chief Glass says that all the burglars who have been operating here this autumn and winter, except one, and now in jail, and en route to the penitentiary, if not already there. The only burglary of importance that the detectives have not been able to fasten upon some crook whom they captured, is the robbery of Mai, Ben C. Truman's house. This was one of the boldest and most successful burglaries of the whole series and the detectives have thus far been baffled in their efforts to find the perpetrator or recover the stolen property. They have not ceased work on the case, however, and still hope to capture the clever thief, who stole 1500 worth of the Truman family plate and jewelry.

The local detectives are positive that Jack the Early R to the national convention of manufacturers to be held in Chicago, January 21.

The question of legislation antagonistic to the oil industry was discussed by the manufacturers. The Grievance Committee reported having placed before the Board of Public Works a document giving it as the sense of the association that no restrictive or oppressive legislation should be enacted in connection with the oil refining business. A desultory discussion followed, in which Hancock Banning gave it as his opinion that the complaints against the oil refineries were in a great measure due to the improper methods of conducting those institutions.

The suggestion was made by the president, J. G. Chamberalan, that a banquet be given, in the near future, to members of the association. The suggestion met with favor and upon the motion of R. V. Pridham, hancock Banning, chairman of the Committee on Entertainment was instructed to make preparations for such an affair, and bring in a report to the association at its next meeting.

A number of Eastern and Sap Francisco manufacturers were present and upon the invitation of the president, and expressing interest in its prosperity and hope for its continued use fulless.

The matter of having the association represented in the parades of the Flesta celebration was broached by Max Meyberg. A member of the Flesta Executive Committee, K. W. No definite action was taken in the matter last evening.

A number of prominent San Francisco and Los Angeles attorneys have been engaged for the past two days in taking depositions of witnesses in a big damage suit brought by Dayld J. Boehm against J. W. Grace.

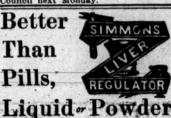

The last-named person is a San Francisco shipping merchant, and the plaintiff will be remembered as having superintended a fruit crystalizing factory in Los Angeles some years ago. The action is brought to recover damages in the sum of $96,000 for alleged violation of contract.

Mr. Grace is represented by W. S. Geodfellow, and Judge William Craiger San Francisco, and Sheldon Borden of Los Angeles, while G. Wiley Wells is counsel for Mr. Boehm. The case is to come up for trial in the United States District Court of New York on the 15th inst. The depositions of a dozen witnesses were taken in the case yesterday before Louis P. Tappeiner, comprising an immense amount of testimony.

W. S. Goodfellow, one of the defendant's counsel, is the person who achieved some notoriety several months ago, in connection with the testament of the late "Jim" Fair, he having been appointed under the will one of the executors without bonds. Mr. Goodfellow claimed that he was offered $250,000 by the heirs to relinquish all interest in the estate of the deceased millionaire. The offer made was not accepted, and although the story was denied by the heirs, it created a vast deal of excitement in San Francisco circles. Mr. Goodfellow left for the north yesterday. The rest of the counsel wills remain in Los Angeles to finish the taking of depositions.

Late this afternoon William Streth.

Late this afternoon William Strothers, who received an injury to his kneepan, some weeks ago in trying to make his escape from the officers who were taking him to jail, was brought before Recorder Rossiter. The tramps who have evidently heard of the stone-yard give Pasadena a wide berth in the day time, but about nightfall invade the outlying residence section to the north and east and ask for food. They have established a camp near Lamanda Park, on the Santa Fe road, and on Monday they whiled away their leisure hours by getting drunk on several gallons of wine which they either purchased or stole.

Two vagrants, answering to the names of Frank Edwards and Harry Connell, were before Recorder Rossiter today and were given ninety days in the County Jail. They were arrested in Lamanda Park late Monday afternoon in the act of selling a nearly new overcoat, for 25 cents. It was afterward developed that the coat belonged to C. D. Dutton, from whose buggy it was stolen, as he was coming to Pasadena on Monday. He stopped in front of Garibaldi's place east of the city, and while he was transacting some business in the house, his coat was stolen. Pending the sentence for vagrancy, evidence will be gathered against the two men, and they will be obliged to answer to the charge of felony.

After receiving the congratulations of their friends the newly-married pair proceeded to their own home on Fair Oaks avenue, where they will hereafter reside.

Mr. Sawyer had been in his usual health up to Thanksgiving day, and was making preparations to spend the winter, as was his custom, in Pasadena. He was taken ill Thanksgiving day, but his condition was not thought serious. Mr. Sawyer was 75 years of age at the time of his death, and was well known in Chicago, where he possessed large real estate interests. He was known in Chicago financial circles as a solid business man, conservative and sound, and for thirty years has been in the march of progress of that city. His wife and one son survive him. Mr. Sawyer was born in Boston, and passed the years of his young manhood there, and his burial will take place in that city.

The Fluke case will be brought up again before Judge Smith Wednesday The technicality upon which the case will be tried from the beginning, and which will make virtually the third review of it, is whether the present City Hall was a regularly constituted place of meeting for the City Council or not. The Council occupied its present quarters for some months before the formal ordinance declaring that such a change had been made was entered upon the had been made was entered upon the books, and should the decision be that the City Council was not in session at its regularly constituted place of business, all of the measures passed in the interim will be invalidated, and the city will be placed in a peculiarly awkward and embarrassing position. The following-named are officers for the ensuing year: Miss Alma Stanford, secretary; D. A. Harrison, treasurer; J. B. Corson (chairman), Dr. Elias Smith, G. A. Paid Outstanding Debts.

The payment of the outstanding certificates, authorized by the City Council at its meeting on Monday afternoon, wipes out all indebtedness for current expenses for the year 1895. The total amount of these certificates was $22,974.02, and the interest at 8 percent: amounted to a total of $1336.686. The work of getting into more debt will be proceeded with as usual, for the tax levy will probably not be apportioned soon enough to avoid that result. However, Pasadena's credit is good, and the banks are more than willing to lend the city all the money desired. The debt of the city is said to be a legacy from a former administration, and has been in all quarters reduced as rapidly as possible.

While various propositions are being discussed for the purpose of relieving the government from its present financial troubles, it is remarkable that more attention has not been paid to the plan of establishing postal savings banks. of establishing postal savings banks. These banks have been a great success in England and other countries for over a quarter of a century. In England the rate of interest paid by the government is 2½ per cent, and it need not be higher here. Such a system would give the government a large amount of money and it would scarcely ever be necessary to issue bonds, Tw and the other to repeal the authority for the issue and sale of United States bonds. It may, of course, be expected that there will be strong opposition to any such project from those who make a business of handling United States securities and lending money to the government, but they are not the whole

THE SUPPLY OF GOLD. The Time has on several occasions expressed the opinion in this column that the silver nas on several occasions expressed the opinion in this column that the silver question is likely to be settled in an unexpected manner, should the development of gold continue at anything like the present rate. In that case it will not be long before there is sufficient gold to furnish all the raw material required for legal tender hard money. This increase has also removed one of the chief arguments of the silver men, which was based on the reduction in the production of gold since 1870. Production, indeed, had been colossal from 1850 to 1870, after the discovery of the placers of California and Australia, reaching an average in that period of $134,000,000. After that period, commencing with 1871, it had gradually fallen to about $100,000,000 in the years from 1881 to 1884. Since 1888 the production of gold has advanced considerably. In 1894, it exceeded $160,000,000, in place of the average product of $100,000,000 from 1881 to 1884. This production leaves far behind the average of the great auriferous period of 1850 to 1870.

It is a belief to many who have in-

It is a belief to many who have investigated the subject that we are on which It is a belief to many who have investigated the subject that we are on the eve of a new golden age, which will eclipse that which followed the Californian and Australian discoveries. Means of communication, facilities for erecting machinery and methods of extracting the precious metal have all improved greatly since those days, so that the product of a field is obtained from the ground in much shorter time than it was then. An English banker who recently visited South Africa expresses the opinion that there is in the Transvala $500,000,000 in gold, which may be extracted within twenty years. The product of that section may reach a hundred million dollars in a few years; that is to say, South Africa will then produce as much gold as was produced in the entire world twelve years ago. Meantime, other gold-producing countries are not loke, but are rapidly coming to the front, including the United States and Siberia.

coming to the front, including the United States and Siberia. In commenting upon the changes which this development may bring about, a writer in the Forum for Desouther, named Beaulleu, says:
"If we reflect that from 1492 (the year of the discovery of America) to '$93—four centuries—the production of gold, according to the most trustworthy statistics, was only $8,600,000,000, and that the Transvaal alone is presumed to be capable of producing in twenty years
$5,000,000,000, we shall understand home be capable of producing in twenty years $5,000,000,000, we shall understand how little question there can be—by the end of this century or the first quarter of the next, at the farthest—of the scarcity of gold, of the scramble for gold, of the appreciation of gold, and all the other formulae that swarmed as scare-crows through the writings of the bi-metallists from 1880 to about 1890 The situation is completely reversed. Within two or three years the world will yield more than $200,000,000 in gold, probably even to $240,000,000 annually, and this will continue for twenty-five or thirty years, if not for fifty or more. Under these conditions it may rather be feared that gold will become too abundant, and may in turn depreciate. Already numerous economists and statisticians foresee a new period of recovery and advance in prices."

JERUSALEM ORANGES. Chicago is indulging in the luxury of oranges grown in the Holy Land, to say nothing of oranges from Southern Califor-nia and Mexico. The Chicago Record says that Jerusalem is now competing says that Jerusalem is now competing with California and Mexico for the orange trade of Chicago. The Jerusalem oranges are described as light in color, of oval shape, and as having arrived in good condition. The latter fact was largely due to the care taken in packing them. The cases were first lined with white paper, and sheets of paper were placed between every layer of fruit, while each orange was wrapped in paper in the ordinary manner. The cases were curiosities in themselves, being securely bound with strips of green timber. They were the first Holy Land oranges even seen in Chicago, and attracted much attention on the part of dealers. They were grown in the district between Jerusalem and Jaffa, and sold at from $4$ to $4.50 a case, the case being larger than the regular California orange box.

GENERAL BUSINESS TOPICS.
SUCCESSFUL SUGAR-MAKING.
Advices from Watsorville state that the sugar factory there had a successful run. The cutters ran 2063 hours and sliced 77,145 tons of beets, an average of 900 tons each twenty-four hours.
From these beets 16,945 tons of sugar was made. The beets were produced from 7244 acres of land, and averaged nearly seven tons of beets, or a ton and a half of sugar to the acre. The yield was less than the average of former years, the reduction being caused by the heavy rainfall last wfnter. The weather was unfavorable to

THE PUENTE REFINERY. Work on the oil refinery at Puente, which will have a capacity of 600 barrels daily, is rapidly approaching completion. The company which is doing the work denies that the Standard Oil Company will control the output or handle the product. They say they have entered into no negotiations with the Standard people. One need not, however, be very much of a prophet to predict that within a few years the Standard people will own or control this establishment, if they wish to.

Remers and Money.

(BY ASSOCIATED PERSS WIRE.)

NEW YORK Jan. 7.—The stock market today was nervous and evidence was pretty clear of support by powerful financial interests. There was also active covering movements of large dimensions. The influences operating upon the speculation were not changed in any material degree. Reports of renewed disturbances, both political and financial, in Europe in the lower prices for our securities in London gave tone to the local opening. Accordingly, the market started in active and heavy. Rumors of probable heavy exports of gold by Wednesday's steamer, continued discussion of the government call and the probable developments incident thereto, predictions of tight money and liquidation of investment railroad bonds for local and foreign accounts were all taken into account, but it was soon patent to experienced observers that strong hands were under the market. No loan certificates were applied for by any of the New York banks, and money on call at the Stock Exchange did not exceed the legal rate, and eventually was offered freely at 2 per cent. The engagements of gold for shipment by the midweck steamer, though fairly large, aggregating $2,735,000, fell short on extreme estimates. The reports of increasing friction between England and Germany on the Transwall question disposed the financial community here to consider the prospect of trouble between this country and the first-named nation in the Venezuelan controversy as very remote. The initial prices recorded declines of 1 to 2 per cent, but the selling movement soon abated and on a considerable diminution in the volume of business a rally occurred all along the line. The appared movement was inspired by large purchases of the international stocks for foreign accounts, which led to pressure on the part of powerful panking interests against the shorts. The dealings for London were estimated as high as 20,000 shares. Late in the day the market was tested by the bears, and there was some vide changes were noted. In the final and Grain and Produce.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.)

CHICAGO, Jan. 7.—Wheat was easier for a second or two at the opening, but soon became strong. England was a liberal and airrious buyer at the seaboard, taking forty boatloads at New York for prompt shipment; country millers showed up in force here, and paid 2½ cents in store over May prices for 157,000 bushels of No. 2 red; the Argentine crop was said to be damaged to the extent of 20 per cent. by rain and the stocks of wheat in Europe and afloat therefor are 2,127,000 less than they were a week ago. There was one cloud on the horizon, however, that was well watched. The financial situation is assuming a serious phase. But the news and the situation generally favored better prices. The Liverpool cable quoted wheat higher and consols lower, due, it was said, to the critical situation in political affairs, and the advices concerning the Argentine crop were quite umsatisfactory. The receipts in the Northwest were fully 200 cars less than yesterday, and only twelve cars more than a week ago. The world's shipments last week were reported at 6,521,000 bushels, or about. 700,000 bushels under the estimated weekly requirements. All this tended ta aiarm the shorts, and there was active covering, with only limited offerings, and the competition sent prices up early. On the first advance, however, there were free realizing sales, which started the price of ½c. But the late cables brought the news done. Oats were active and strong, influenced by corn. Shorts were the principal buyers. Live stock receipts were considerably larger than were expected, and in consequence hog products suffered considerably in price.

Boston Wool Market.

BOSTON, Jan. 7.—The flurry which attacked the wool market its days ago has simmored down, and the market is quieter, though prices are fully mintained. The condition of the market is considered strong with prices in the dealers' favor. While the general expression is that the tariff bill will not pass, yet manufacturers do not feel like diaregarding the movement, and are keeping their ques epon for all available clips. It is estimated that during the flurry the week's business amounted to fully 10.00,000 pounds. Pleace weeks are strong with a fair trade.

ransvan position was regarded during the day as very grave. Unless the Boers soon yield to the fust claims of the Utilanders, British intervention is considered almost certain. Consols have been 165%, but closed better on purchases said to have come from Germany. Americans have been especially flat on the gloomy anticipation of the effect of the breakdown of the syndicate operation, but they closed better. All orders for gold to America, which undoubtedly existed, appear to be countermanded, the metal being freely offered in the open market. There was a sharp fall in Kaffirs. Late tonight the general outlook is most unsettled. The losses entailed are becoming heavy and serious. The Paris and Berlit markets were flat today, but the latter closed better. Liverpool Grain POMONA, Jan. 7.—(Regular Correspondence.) Gustavas Neth, a prosper-ous young business man in Pomona, who made an almost national nome for who made an almost national nome for himself last summer, by giving away his own and his wife's jewelry and all other property not absolutely necessary to life, for use in the missionary cause "where every prospect pleases and only man is vile," has changed his mind about offering his and his wife's bodies as a living sacrifice among the cannibal heathens in far distant lands. Mr. Neth now says that neither he nor his wife will become foreign missionaries right away. They have given the proposition a second bought, and will in a few days remove to Dallas, Tex., where there is opportunity for both missionary work and gathering in the shokers at one and the same time.

DEATH OF A FORTY-NINER.

The death of J. B. Chappell occurred at his home on the corner of Fifth and Thomas streets in Pomona on Monday morning, after a long period of weakness and ilineas. The funeral took place today at the Methodist Church, South, and interment was made in Pomona cemetery. The deceased was aged almost 78 years. He and his wife had lived together fifty-five years, and their offspring are four sons, a number of grandchildren, all of whom live in Pomona Valley and Los Angeles. Mr. Chappell was one of the very oldest residents, as old residents in the new towns of Southern California go. He has lived here since 1881, and at the time of his coming there were about 200 people (mostly Mexicans,) in what is now Pomona. He came across the plains to California with an ox team in 1349, and was here several years during the gold-mining excitement. He has often told how he and a party of men and women were from April to November in traveling from Illinois to what is now Sacramento. The old gentlemas was pleasant, honorable and very unostentatious, and his death has grieved many persons who had merely an acquaintance with him.

News has been received here lately of the whereabouts of yictor J. Humbrecht, the sleekest, smoothest and most agreeable young rascal who ever operated in Pomona—and there have been several first-class ones in this line of business in this place in the last few years. The police in Portland, Or., Chicago and other places have him still in mind, and some day he will be caught. The Pomona constables are making no attempt to catch Humbrecht, for his swindles here are petty compared with those in other localities of the United States. A number of people in this place who were on most familiar and social terms with Humbrecht believe he is somewhere in Georgic or Florida with a new assumed name, and some alterations in his facial expression and personal appearance.

The firm of Loud & Gerling have alone shipped seventy-eight carloads of dried fruits, amounting to over 870 tons, dried fruits, amounting to over 870 tons, in 1885, besides thirty-six carloads of oranges and eighteen tons of wainuts.

It is a long time since there has been so much interest in Pomona in mining properties as this season. The extraordinary boom all over the world in gold mines is no doubt the cause of it. At almost any hour in the day one may see knots of men standing on the surbstones and street corners here looking at specimens of quartz or handling small nuggets brought in from drifts. A haif-dozen mining schemes, big and little, but mostly the latter, are on foot in Pomona just now. Since the Polittle, but mostly the latter, are on loost in Pomona just now. Since the Pomona Gold Mining Company, that was capitalized at a round million of dollars and never had paid into it more than $2000, falled so thoroughly, business men here have been chary about ness men here have been chary about mines that they did not know all about. D. C. Lane's rare success in silver mines in the last three years has been a decided incentive of interest in mines of any description in this locality—when there is little or no money to in-

CITY TRUSTEES' MEETING.
The City Trustees met Monday evening with all members and the clerk present. H. C. Hill came before the board and asked the city to furnish material to protect the banks of Santiago Creek at the Main-street bridge. Charles A. Hunt and J. H. Garner were appointed a committee to investigate the matter, with power to act.
The petition of Henry Neill and others asking the board to have three electric lights placed on East Fourth streets as as to give light to residents and strangers who are compelled to travel there to their homes and to the rall-road depot was amended so as to read four lights instead of three, and granted.

The petition of F. W. Burgess and others asking that a cement sidewalk six feet wide, with a redwood curb, on the north side of Fourth street, from Main street to the Santa Fe Railroad, be ordered down, was granted.

The petition of J. R. Congdon and others asking the board to fix the width of the sidewalk on Pine street, from West street to the Santa Fe railroad, was read and granted, the width to be ten feet, and the City Attorney was instructed to draft an ordinance covering the same.

Reports of the city officers were read and filed.

The bond of Felipe Zerate to carry on a saloon at No. 230 West Fourth street, in the city of Santa Ana, under ordinance No. 192, was approved, and the license was granted for one year from January 1, 1896.

Frank Ey came before the board and made application for a franchise for a street railway on Fifth or Sixth street, in the city of Santa Ana. The matter was referred to a committee of one, President C. A. Hunt of the Board of Trustees to investigate the matter and report at the next meeting of the board.

The clerk was instructed to adver-

SHIELD THE BIRDS.

"I want to make a plea for the wild canary birds," said Deputy Assessor W. H. Marquis to a representative of The Times today (Tuesday.) as that individuat was making the rounds of the county offices in quest of news.

"I have been so mad the past week or more," continued Mr. Marquis, "that I would really have liked to get my hands on about a dozen of small boys down in the part of town in which I live. I have seen I succeed the seen I would be seen I w on about a dozen or small boys down in the part of town in which I live. I have seen, I suspect, three dozen or more wild canary birds that have fallen victims to air guns and slingshots in the hands of small boys, who seem to take an especial delight in seeing how many of the little feathered songsters they can exterminate. I think it is a shame to allow this wholesale slaughter of birds to continue. It is getting now so that it is hardly safe to be out in one's yard down our way for fear of getting a shot in your eye or on your head. Only a few days ago a charge of shot from a boy's airgun went plunking through a neighbor's open door and came near doing serious injury to children on the inside. Can't you do something or say something for the sake of the little songsters, as well as for the safety of the women and children of the neighborhood?"

Promising to bring the matter to public notice the reporter proceeded on his way.

BROKE HIS ARM.

Supervisor J. W. Hawkins of the second district had the misfortune to break the lower bone of his left arm at an early hour this (Tuesday) morning, at his residence, south of Garden Grove.

The District Attorney was instructed to prepare contract and bond. The board decided that hereafter the cost of the meals of the prisoners in the County Jall should be 11 cents. The bills for the past month were audited and warrants ordered drawn for the same, after which the board adjourned.

STREET RAILWAY FRANCHISE WANTED.

WANTED.

It begins to look at last as if the street-railway project would soon take on new life and become a reality. At the present time it is difficult to say just what will come of the proposition to build a street railroad on Fifth or Sixth street, to run to both the railway depots and then to Orange, But whatever there is in it will no doubt be brought to the surface in a very short time, as Chairman Hunt of the Board of City Trustees has been appointed a committee to investigate the matter and to report the result of his investigations at the next meeting of the board. One thing sure, Santa Ana needs the enterprise and needs it badly.

President S. C. Evans was seen today by the Times correspondent. He said the bank was thoroughly fortified for any emergency. He attributed the little flurry to malicious reports put in circulation by enemies of the bank and said there was a prospect of arrests circulation by enemies of the bank and said there was a prospect of arrests following. Mr. Evans was one of the founders of the Riverside Colony, and has, during the life of the city, been looked upon as a tower of strength in a business, as well as social, way, and in this institution he has associated with him many of the most solid citizens of Riverside.

In the case of the Riverside Water Company against the San Bernardino Electric Light Company and other parties, which Judge Noyes of Riverside county now has under consideration, on a motion for change of venue to San Bernardino county, one compromise has already been effected and there is a prospect of others following. The suit is brought to establish the amount of water owned by several parties in small ditches taken out of Warm Creek, and which the Riverside Company claims have been enlarged since it acquired its right to Warm Creek water over twenty years ago. The owners of the Rabel ditch and the Riverside Company have made a compromise, and it is thought the other companies will de the same, ALESSANDRO IRRIGATION DIS-WILL PROBABLY COMPROMISE. REASON FOR DIFFERENCE. REASON FOR DIFFERENCE.
There is, it appears, a liability of misconception as to the amounts of the bids submitted for the sewer. The engineer's estimate was $33,000. City Engineer James points out that the estimate of $33,000 was for a sewer system exclusive of the part where there is to be a discharge into the cocan. The bids received by the Trustees Monday evening were for only a portion of the sewer system included in the engineer's estimate. This explains the variance between the price in the estimate and the sums named in the proposals submitted.

RIGHT OF WAY.

Since the sewer proposals were received Monday evening there has been a good deal of interest manifested in the matter of right-of-way for the sewer. It happens that the proposed work is to run across land owned by the Southern Pacific, and also land owned by the Santa Fe, as well as land owned by the Santa Fe, as well as land owned by private individuals. Attention has been attracted to the fact that A. B. Hotchikiss appeared at the meeting when the bids were opened as attorney for Frank Moir, the only bidder whose proposal when opened offered to furnish right-of-way. As Mr. Hotchikiss has for some time been known as attorney for the Southern Pacific, the fact that he should appear for a hidder under such circumstances has caused considerable comment. The new features that have developed have created a lively interest as to what the Trustees will do with the bids when they take them up next Wednesday evening. RIGHT OF WAY.

HOLES IN THE GROUND. C. L. Powell, a Los Angeles man, came near having an unusual experi-ence in this city Sunday. He had been ence in this city Sunday. He had been figuring preparatory to submitting a bid for the sewer, and came to this city Sunday to make an examination of the ground in which the sewer is to run. Week-day implements such as a pick and shovel, it is said, found their way to where Mr. Powell was, and somehow one or more holes were dug into the ground. City Engineer James learned of what had been going on, and made arrangements to procure a mock warrants against Mr. Powell. There was a hitch in the plans, and so Mr. Powell did not have to submit to the process of a "kangaroo" court. Whether his liberty was purchased as the price of a few cigars has not been reported. It was testified that the alleged offense occurred at 12:39 p.m. It was contended that the law when it says the shops shall close at 12 m., means 1 p.m., the same as in certain other instances where an extra hour is allowed. SAN BERNARDINO COUNTY. The Creamery Has Declared War or

SANTA MONICA, Jan. 7.—(Regular Correspondence.) As had been anticipated, intense interest was manifested in the meeting of the Board of Trustees held Monday evening. The Town Hall was filled to the doors, which is not usual at board sessions. All of the trustees except Lewis were present. Fourteen envelopes supposed to contain bids for the sewer system were opened. Twelve of them contained bids. The proposal in another was not accompanied by a certified check. One envelope when broken open contained only a blank piece of paper. One or more of the contractors submitting bids were present with their attorneys. When it came time for Clerk Dales to break the seals the bids read were as follows: W. J. Schmidt, prices detailed (This bid is computed to amount to $15,868.66 for the work complete;) Lang & Middlekauf, Santa Monica, work complete, $21,165, H. C. Register, Los Angeles, $19,896; A. E. PROBABLY FATAL ACCIDENT.

A team belonging to Sidney H. Johnson, the grocsryman, ran away Monday evening, throwing Mr. Johnson's brother out of the wagon and inflicting a severe fracture of the skull. Dr. Aldridge was near by and was called to care for the injured man, who was taken to his home in an unconscious condition. Dr. Dickey was called in consultation and the two physicians removed a piece of the skull nearly two inches long and a quarter of an inch wide. Today the victim of the accident lies in a precarious condition with a bare possibility of recovery. HORTICULTURAL COMMISSION

The action of the Supervisors regarding the Horticultural Commission has been the general theme of conversation, throughout the county for twenty-four bours, and though interested parties and friends of those who ested parties and friends of those who sought a place on the commission still talk of mandanus procedings, the general verdict of the people is that Mr. Pease is a man whose competency to fill the responsible position is above suspicion. The Supervisors feel confident that their act is in accordance with law and are prepared to maintain their position.

SAN BERNARDINO BREVITIES.

The City Trustees will meet tonight, but can take no action touching the electric light contract, as the new company still has a short time in which to comply with their contract. It is said the reason no preparation is being made to light the city is that the new company is negotiating with the old company for its plant, with a prospect that the transfer will be made.

THE SWEETWATER DAM COMPANY CAUSING MORE "DAMNS."

dosing Scheme-The Council and the City Printing-The Tumble of a Customs Officer.

pondence.) This county is amazed over what is regarded as a "hold-up" of large property interests by the San Diego Land and Town Company. As briefly reported in this column on Monlay, the company turned off the water thousands of people instantly deprived of all water, either for irrigation or for household use. In fact, a whole city is apparently placed in peril be-cause of the whim of a company which for household use. In fact, a whole city is apparently placed in peril because of the whim of a company which thinks it can thus squeeze more money out of the ranchers to whom it sold unimproved lands at high prices, with water, and when these lands became highly improved by the ranchers the water company, by forceful means, attempts to double the water rate. This is regarded as a buildozing game which will not be tolerated by the courts. The manner in which the company attempts to coerce consumers of the water into accession of its exorbitant demands is regarded as being highly reprehensible and unjust. To thus cut off the sole supply of water on which thousands of people depend, and to do so without a word of warning, is looked upon as an action which may jeopardize life, in addition to jeopardizing vast properties. Should a fire occur in National City there would be no water with which to quench it. That city is on amicable terms with the company, and why the company should thus dare to break a contract with a municipality and place the property of that city in danger, is not understood. The legal action of the company in support of what the ranchers term an outrage, consists of a sult brought in the United States Circuit Court of Los Angeles on Monday asking that the court declare the annual water rate of $7 an acre annually as reasonable, and grant an injunction to restrain consumers from bringing suit in the State courts to prevent the company from imposing the new rate. The company alleges in its complaint that it has spent $1,022,473 on the Sweetwater system up to January 1, 1896; that the property is valued at $1,100,000, the annual operating and repair cost being $33,024, of which the interest on $300,000 at 7 per cent. is a part, which deducted, leaves the actual operating expense at $12,034. Complaint further alleges that the company, in order to receive 6 per cent. on its investment, must raise the water rates so that they will yield $119,791. The present rates are alleged to have yielded only $15, are thus increased it will be necessary to operate the plant at a loss. The company holds that if consumers are silowed to bring separate suits to enforce delivery of water at the old rate, and for damages, if the water is shut off (the water having been shut off before complaint was filed) it will increase court expenses, therefore the company asks that consumers be required to appear in a body to show cause why they should not pay increased rates or be deprived of the water. The ranchers hold that as they have already been deprived of the water, they fall to see why the court has any right to make them parties to a suit and put them to large expense when, as is the case to-day, they are not getting any water nor are they allowed to have water in case they should present the money for it asked by the company. Water in the entire Sweetwater system has been cut off. So indignant are some of the ranchers over the action of the company that threats of using force to have the water turned on even at the muzzle of a rifle, are frequently uttered. These ranchers object to being throttled in an arbitrary manner by the company. They note the action of the Massachusetts court in granting Receiver Lanning of the company a salary of $600 monthly, and point to that as one of officials and clerks here and in Boston, the cash for which extravagance is sought from the hard-working ranchers.

Judge Haines, representing the Chuia Vista ranchers, says that he will appear before the United States Circuit Court on Wednesday morning and ask that Receiver Lanning of the Land and Town Company be ordered to turn on the water. He will base his request on the fact that the company is in the hands of the court; that the receiver is merely the agent of the court who, in his suit, admits that the ranchers have water rights and yet in a distinctly arbitrary manner he ignores these rights entirely by cutting off the water and thus overrides the rights acknowledged in the complaint. Judge Haines is confident that the court will not permit its agent to wage a war which, if persisted in, will not only ruin the ranchers, but also ruin the thousands of acres now in the custody of the court.

The City Council met on Monday and acted in a manner so peculiar as to tectotally befuddle the most acute comprehension to be found among the constituents of the Councilmen. This peculiar action was over the bids for city printing. The Sun and Vidette offered bids. The delegates found that although the bid of the Vidette was held to be illegal by the City Attoney, still it was about one-fourth the cost of the bids. The delegates accepted it, and awarded to the Sun. The delegates accepted a bid which the City Attorney declared to be illegal. This arouses comment in the minds of voters. They ask, "What is the City Attorney for?" Here a job lot of delegates accepted a bid which the City Attorney declared to be illegal. This arouses comment in the minds of voters. They ask, "What is the City Attorney for?" Here a job lot of delegates aget the opinion of their legal adviser and then turn it down. In view of the opinion of the attorney, it is doubtful if the alleged illegal bid would be valid, even if passed by the entire Council.

Soap Powder for Kitchen and Laundry purposes is more economical than the best Soap, and no Soap is required with it. Remember these points.

BORAXAID, latest and best Soap Powder, costs less, goes further, does work quicker and easier, than any other brand made. It contains no rosin, therefore will not shrink your flannels; nor lye, nor caustic soda (which Chinese laundrymen use) to ruin your hands, clothing and temper.

BORAXAID is a combination of Borax (which softens water, sets colors, heals the hands, and kills disease germs), ground up with a high-grade Soap, made from sweet vegetable oils, not disease-spreading, rancid animal fats. Do any other Soap Powder makers publish their combination?

BORAXAID takes out all the dirt and leaves all the clothes. Only Soap Powder having Borax for a base. Beware of fraudulent limitations and caustic soda compounds. Take no other brand. Borax is King. Patronize Pacific Coast productions. Trade mark, the "20-mule team," on every package. 3-1b., 1 and 3-lb. cartons. All grocers sell it. It is not peddled. THE VALLEY ROAD.

Report of Its Progress-The Arison

An Associated Press dispatch from San Francisco says that at a meeting of the directors of the San Francisco and San Joaquin Valley Railroad Com-pany today Chief Engineer Storey subpany today Chief Engineer Storey sub-mitted a report showing the progress-made in constructing the competing road. The line from Stockton to the Stanislaus River, a distance of twenty-five miles, is all graded, and the rails have been laid down. Grant Bros.' grading camp has been moved down a considerable distance below the Stanis-laus River.

grading camp has been moved down a considerable distance below the Stanislaus River.

Mr. Storey thinks that the roadbed will, in a very short time, be graded as far as the Tuolumne River. The Stanislaus bridge, which is a very long and high structure, is almost completed. The work of erecting a steel drawbridge over the Mormon channel in Stockton will soon be started, as most of the steel sections for the bridge have arrived from the East and the rest of the material is coming in daily. Several cargoes of rails are now on their way out by clipper ship from New York, and the supplies on hand are sufficient to push the road into Fresno without delay. He thought it safe to say that at the present progress of the work trains would be running into Fresno in less than five months' time. All the surveys between Fresno and Bakersfield have been finished, with the exception of a small distance in the vicinity of Visalla and Hanford.

C. N. Sterry of Albuquerque, N. M., at the opening of the court today moved to dismiss the complaint on the ground that the Interstate Commerce Law does not cover the case as presented. Charles B. Alexander declared that the plaintiff road had no standing in court legally, and that the complaint was faulty.

Mr. McCurdy made an able presentation of the case for the plaintiff. He vigorously denounced the manner in which the managers of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad had succeeded in the total demolition of the property of the Prescott road by diverting the freight and passenger traffic to the road which they controlled.

Judge Lacombe adjourned the hearing until tomorrow.
